Running gauntlet of furious Teamsters, truck is spattered by rocks and bombs.

Howling Strikers Ambush Trucks With Bombs, Bats

MONTREAL (CP)—A four-lane boulevard turned into a furious battleground Friday as strikers threw fire bombs and everything else they could get their hands on to prevent two transports from leaving a trucking depot.

Police retaliated with tear gas bombs and fired more than 20 warning shots into the air as they extricated the frantic crews from the trucks, one of them a fire.

Two of 200 striking Teamsters Union (I.W.O.) members were injured, one of them when he tried to jump on the running board of one of the trucks.

The fighting broke out on north-end Cote de Liesse Road when the two trucks tried to leave the strikebound Smith Transport Company depot.

BURN BOMBS

The strikers surged across the boulevard the instant the first truck came through the depot gate. They hurled the bombs, burning torches, stones, bricks, glass, pieces of wood and anything else they could get their hands on in a furious effort to stop the first truck and another one that emerged right behind it.

The first truck burst into flames and slid across the road. The second came to a dead stop right behind it.

WARNING SHOTS

Police, trying to extricate the two frantic drivers and their helpers, pumped tear gas shells into the howling, roaring mob and fired more than 20 warning shots into the air.

Later, Rod Hayes, president of Local 106 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (I.W.O.), sent a telegram to Quebec Attorney-General Georges Lapalme protesting the role played by Quebec Provincial Police during the outbreak.

'USING GUNS'

He charged the QPP had been used as "strikebreakers" and protested their "using guns to shoot at strikers."

The Smith attempt followed a successful bid by two trucks from the adjacent Kingsway depot earlier in the day to get out of the area—blockaded by the Teamsters for the last three days—and reach warehouses on the waterfront.

The first Smith truck rumbled out behind two police cars shortly after 2 p.m. and headed west into the hail of bombs, rocks and debris. In a split second, it was aflame.

JUMPED BACK IN

An eye-witness said the driver's helper jumped out the minute the truck stopped, took one look at the mob surging toward him, and jumped right back into the flaming cab.

Three police cars immediately swerved into position between the burning truck and the mob. More policemen rushed to and charged into the strikers.

Ironically, it took police a few minutes to get the truck cab doors open because the outside handles had been removed so strikers could not get at the drivers.

Police said no arrests were made.

LONDON (CP)—A Harley Street physician told a court yesterday how a young Canadian had been cured of drug addiction after seeking treatment under Britain's National Health Service.

Walter Thomas Carr, 21, son of a Vancouver commercial fisherman, appeared on remand having pleaded guilty to altering NHS prescriptions given for vitamins to obtain heroin and cocaine.

Betty Jean Hagen of Toronto, back from the Tchaikovsky competitions in Moscow, says she and other Western musicians were short-changed in their prize money.

Mrs. Hagen said that when she left Moscow officials refused to give her a portion of her prize money.

"We were told in advance that we could not take roubles out of the country," she said, "and the prize money was in roubles. But if we wished we could ask that a quarter of the prize money be paid in Western currency."

She said she made the request but they refused to pay her.

"I told them if that was their way of running a contest they could keep their prize money."

Mrs. Hagen, who tied for seventh place in the competition, also complained about the Russians' musical standard.

She said she turned down tour and recording offers and would never go back there.

She said a Japanese musician who lives in the United States got the same treatment.

Storm Slams Island

Power, telephone and telegraph crews worked late into the night repairing line damage caused by yesterday's storm which lashed southern Vancouver Island with winds gusting to 76 miles an hour.

Weatherman William Mackie said that although the storm would be well into the Prairies by this morning there would be no major improvement in the weather picture here today.

He thought it would remain cool with cloudy skies and the occasional light shower and some sunny intervals. Wind is expected from the southwest at about 20 miles an hour.

TREES UPROOTED

A lot of trees were uprooted in the Victoria area and many overhead lines broken by the storm which dumped two inches of snow in the Nanaimo area and left a trail of snow as far west as Port Alberni.

The storm, which broke away from a large storm north of the Hawaiian Islands, was so intense here because its centre passed near Victoria, said the weatherman.

It was drawn here by a low pressure area which registered 28.55 inches on the barometer, the second lowest bar.

Judge Lashes 'Savage' Police

MONTREAL (UPI)—An angered judge slammed his fist on the desk as he delivered a stiff lecture yesterday to four suspended policemen charged with manslaughter.

Judge Paul Huetten sent the four to voluntary statement May 4 after calling evidence given at the two-day preliminary hearing "a tale of savagery."

"No one has the right to strike another person unless in defence of his life," the judge lectured Sgt. Florent Landry, Cpl. Armand Gagnon and Constables Fernand Rose and Edouard Maroney.

Police officers should have other means of handling prisoners, the judge added.

Dr. Jean Marie Rousset, a medico-legal expert, said that an arrested man, Paul Boutin, died in police cells as a result of a number of blows and that no single wound would have caused his death.

North of Mill Bay Truck-Car Collision Kills Four

A Duncan businessman and his wife were among four persons killed in a collision between their car and a logging truck on the Island Highway four miles north of Mill Bay late yesterday.

Dead are: Vernon James Harford, 56, and his wife Alyce, in her 50s, of Vista Road, Duncan; and two other persons riding in the death car whom police were unable to identify at press time early today.

Driver of the logging truck, Philip Burnett, 2559 Cranmore Road, Victoria, was taken to King's Daughters' Hospital with a broken leg and a broken arm. His condition was "satisfactory."

Police said the logging truck was southbound when it apparently went out of control, sideswiping a small car driven by Mrs. Velma Almond, 3341 Maplewood, Victoria.

BEADON

The careening truck then smashed head-on into the north-bound Harford car, Mrs. Almond's car, which received only minor damage, was also travelling north. Residents of homes nearby said the impact of the crash was like an explosion.

The accident happened at 5:15 p.m. on a straight stretch of highway.

IN SHOCK

There were apparently no witnesses to the accident except Mrs. Almond. Police said she was in a state of shock and unable to answer questions immediately. She later was reported to be at the home of her parents in South Wellington.

Don Adamson of Courtenay arrived on the scene only seconds after the crash. He ran to the car and found all four occupants were dead.

WRECKED

David Andriat, who lives 100 yards from the crash scene near Hutchinson Road, said a dozen cars had stopped by the time he reached the death car. A nurse tried to give first aid to the victims. Would-be rescuers used a shovel to remove earth around the door of the tilted car.

They smashed the windshield of the truck to remove the injured driver. He was employed at the B.C. Forest Products Cayuse Camp on Cowichan Lake and was returning to his Victoria home for the weekend.

Under A-Cloud, Rational Berlin Talks

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Amid a general wringing of hands over nuclear tests, some small solace can be gleaned from continuing Soviet-American talks on Berlin.

Though the super-powers are unable to agree on disarmament, perhaps because of psychological factors, there are signs that both sides would like to find a solution on Berlin as the beginning of a wider settlement.

Some British observers even detect symptoms of a developing two-power deal, despite the statement by American State Secretary Rusk that he sees almost no progress in the eight-month negotiations on Berlin.

Crossman regards President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev as the "first leaders who, instead of believing their own propaganda about each other, have realized that a cool and objective understanding of the other fellow's difficulties is the beginning of concordance."

Increasingly, Russia and the U.S. begin to look like lumbering heavyweights in the prize ring. They circle each other warily, flicking out mean-looking jabs from time to time, but always conscious of the dynamite they pack inside those big gloves. There is a sort of muted hostility.

Meanwhile, a tendency grows in the West to feel that Russia's belligerent stance conceals an inner fear. Her refusal to yield to Anglo-American pleas for some form of international inspection may result, it is thought, from a reluctance to let the West find out how little she really has in relative power terms.

Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton hike back to their villas after Burton's car blew tire, crashed in ditch.

Rusk Stresses Troop Access In Soviet Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Rusk and Russian Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin met for 1½ hours Friday in a wide-ranging discussion which was the most important so far of the new United States-Soviet talks on Berlin.

Informal sources said Rusk stressed U.S. determination to keep Western troops in West Berlin and asked the Soviet envoy for clarification of Moscow's hints that there can be accommodation on that issue.

Rusk also dealt with broader problems involving all Germany including the peace treaty question and the U.S. policy against giving atomic weapons to non-nuclear powers. The Russians are interested in getting an agreement to ban nuclear arms for the Germans.

This was the first time in their three meetings so far that Rusk and Dobrynin have gone deeply into the substance of the

Moslem Urges Unity

ALGERS (Reuters)—A leading Moslem politician Friday night appealed for the co-operation of Europeans in a "new Algeria" shortly after European extremists wrecked the main Algiers telephone exchange.

Chawki Mostefai, a member of the 12-man temporary government and the first Moslem to broadcast an address over Algerian television, said Moslems offered Europeans "loyalty and sincerely the possibility of living with us."

FULL PARTNERS
"The place of Europeans of Algeria is in Algeria as full partners," he said.

His speech followed the bombing of the telephone exchange in the big Algiers government building. A man and a girl telephone operator were injured. Sources said service would be restored by today.

UNOBSERVED
Usually well-informed sources said members of the Secret Army organization got into the building unobserved. The building is guarded by some 200 gendarmes.

The Telling Point

LIBERAL LEADER Lester B. Pearson, it appears, has failed to do his homework again.

If he had been a little more conscientious in keeping up with his assignments he would not be so quick to accuse the government of a "do-nothing" policy in a world where trade "is being drastically and dramatically reorganized and reshaped."

However, through his over-zealous attempt to persuade the electorate that only a Liberal government would follow a policy of expanding trade, Mr. Pearson displays an incredible lack of knowledge of this country's present export trade position.

Had he devoted as much energy to studying Canada's trade situation today as he has spent in criticizing it, he would know that the value of Canada's exports is higher now than it has ever been.

Mr. Pearson, of course, does know this. But quite naturally he doesn't want to admit it because it is to the credit of the Conservative administration. And because he knows this he is imploring Canadian voters to look forward rather than look back.

If his plea of "don't look back" is ignored, the reason for his apprehension becomes only too apparent. Even a quick check of facts reveals that the Conservative government has transformed the $713 million trade deficit left by the Liberals in their last year in office to a $50 million surplus in 1961.

In accomplishing this—a feat claimed impossible by the Liberal Party—the Diefenbaker government resorted to the old-fashioned business practice known as "get out and sell." It embarked on a sweeping program to encourage Canadian manufacturers and exporters to advertise and sell their products abroad with vigor and fire, and with the realization that international trade is a direct, harsh, cut-throat competitive market and unless they advertised, sold and worked, they would be left holding the bag left them by the Liberals.

With the encouragement and leadership of the Conservative government, Canadian industry met the challenge to chalk up a $50 million trade surplus last year—nearly three-quarters of a billion dollars better than the Liberals left behind them.

Not satisfied with this alone, the government is continuing in its efforts to push the sale of Canadian products abroad with the result that there are more Canadian goods being purchased all over the world than ever before.

Mr. Pearson should really be more careful in the method of salesmanship he employs in his attempt to foist his own line of merchandise upon the public. Fact is still a good selling point and a telling one.

A Harder Look

INDICATIONS that the British government may soon be forced to take a second and harder look at its policy of leading Britain into the European Common Market are growing on the home front.

Latest warning against too precipitous action comes not from outside Commonwealth ECM opponents but from Sir Donald MacDougall, one of the Macmillan government's top advisers on Common Market participation and economic director of the National Economic Development Council.

It is particularly significant that Sir Donald's approach to the matter is based solely on the effect ECM membership would have on Britain's national economy and disregards completely any Commonwealth interest or position.

In an assessment published by a Dutch bank review recently, Sir Donald says: "Looked at as a purely commercial deal, and ignoring the indirect consequences, it is by no means obvious that entry into the Common Market would be a good proposition for Britain."

"It might well tend to worsen the balance of trade."

Stressing the point that though he believes such a union with Europe could have certain long-range advantages, he can see no reason why Britain should not achieve a "satisfactory economic performance" if she stayed out.

Among the short term ECM dangers he fears are the devaluation of the pound, balance-of-payment difficulties, a shrinking market for British cars, and an up to 10 per cent increase in home food prices.

Nor has he ignored the political implications of Britain's entry into the ECM. Here is what he says: "If a true picture could be painted of the extent to which we might have given up our freedom of action in, say, 10 years' time, the revulsion of many British people might now be extreme."

Such comments coming from one of its senior counsellors can hardly be ignored by the government of the United Kingdom.

Bring Them 'Home'

WHEN HE WAS a serving naval officer Captain David Groos no doubt appreciated the strategy which for a century has caused the Halifax command to embrace more ships and men than the Esquimaux command. He is now a politician seeking a seat in the latter constituency, however.

And what a difference that makes.

"Let's bring some of them home," he cries in his opening gambit of the federal election campaign this week, conveniently forgetting that many of the ships and men concerned never were here and so would not be coming "home."

In any case he cannot seriously contend that the relative strengths of either the Halifax or the Esquimaux station depend on whether the Conservatives or the Liberals are elected to power. One would certainly hope that naval strategy was not subservient to partisan politics.

His own party, incidentally, contributed strongly to the division of strengths during its many years in office. Is he now condemning its policies?

Captain Groos seems as unclear as his chief Mr. Pearson when he touches on matters of defence and the nature of Canadian programs. It is not so long ago he argued that Canada's role should be to develop forces solely for UN disposition in putting out brush-fire wars, whatever exactly these may be.

Perhaps of course he did not include the navy in this naive appraisal of operations.

Report From Ottawa

They Don't Stand, They Run

By ARTHUR BLAKELY

THE oldtimers have been saying for years that election campaigns aren't what they used to be.

So does Revenue Minister George Nowlan, but for quite a different reason. He holds that the demands made on the time and energy of the serious election candidate of today are much greater than they were a few decades ago. He must be able to do more things than his predecessor, and do them more often.

Had the same conclusion been arrived at by other modern campaigners, it might have been dismissed lightly by the old hands.

But Mr. Nowlan is a politician. He was first elected to the Nova Scotia Legislature in 1923, and to the Canadian House of Commons in 1948. He is a veteran of nine campaigns undertaken in a province which was, for long, a Liberal stronghold. He was successful in eight. He is embarking now on his 10th.

Some time ago, Mr. Nowlan sketched in the details of one day in the life of the election candidate of today. It wasn't the sort of picture likely to encourage the faint-hearted to enter active politics.

"His day begins with telephone calls," says Mr. Nowlan. "After he has managed to disengage himself from the phone, he rushes down to his office to be greeted by delegations, by mail, by more telephone calls and then again more telephone calls."

"He approves, with some doubt, his advertisements, his daily press releases, his election posters, his call cards, his letters to his constituents and a radio speech which he has to record immediately and which he reads for the first time on route to the local broadcasting station where it will be recorded."

"He bolts his lunch. If he has any, surrounded by his strategists, half of whom say he can't lose, and the other half of whom say he can't win. He hastens to his car, drives out in the country and starts canvassing."

"If he is a sitting member, he is told very bluntly that things couldn't be worse, and he can't win. If he is running against a sitting member, he is told things couldn't be better, and he can't lose."

"He then returns to two or three teas which his lady organizers have organized... where he bolts a sandwich, takes a sip of tea, shakes hands with some 20 to 60 ladies who may have congregated in that home."

"If there is a funeral, he attends. If there is a fire, he is a member of the bucket brigade. And if there is a flood, he carries sandbags always hopeful, of course, that a camera is conveniently near."

As the afternoon's campaigning draws to a close, he is surrounded by some quailing, a television appearance scheduled for a time now almost at hand.

He goes to the television station, is handed a suggested speech five minutes before he goes before the camera, and told not to look at his text while he is speaking, to look natural, to talk in an easy and informal fashion, but to be above all things firm, and to look sincere. After his TV speech, he gets rid of his makeup and takes two more telephone calls, one from his sister who thinks his speech was wonderful and another from a stranger who says he had planned to vote for him but, having heard the speech, would not now vote for him as dog-catcher."

Time is pressing, however, and he hurries to his automobile to drive 10 or 100 miles to an evening meeting at which he is to be the major speaker.

Once there, "he listens for two hours to the preliminary speaker, and then is told he is allowed 15 minutes in which to make the major address. By the time he gets up to speak, the audience is exhausted, all the appropriate jokes have been made and (worse still) he is brought on by the chairman who introduces him as one of the best speakers in the province, if not in Canada."

Later, drawing on his last reserves, he shakes hands with any other survivors who may have lingered for this purpose. Then he accepts an invitation to go to the chairman's home for a quiet sandwich, only to find his local committee assembled there in force, anxious to go over campaign plans in detail.

"He tries to sleep while someone is driving him home, staggers up to his door, only to find a delegation of committeemen waiting for him. Among them is his publicity chairman, who must have a story in the night's news. Also, he must have the 'ad' approved for the weekly paper, as well as for the farm paper. And just as he crawls up the stairs to go to bed, his chairman says: 'Now we have only three weeks left and during that period, we certainly have to go to work.'"

Today's election campaigner, says Mr. Nowlan, no longer "wastes for public office" in the old sense. No indeed. He runs, and he runs hard and fast.

"They talk about the 'image' of a candidate," Mr. Nowlan says. "When a man runs that fast and that hard, how can he have any other image?—he just leaves a blur. He can't stand still long enough for anyone to get a good look at him."

But he concedes that the system has its advantages. "He is a moving target... he misses the tomatoes and the rotten eggs."

Taxing Learning

From The Telegram, Toronto

PREMIER ROBERTS has told the legislature that someday the province may have to impose a special form of income tax on university graduates to recoup the public share of the costs of university education.

The premier's statement was made in the heat of debate and no doubt, on second thought, he will realize that such a move would be a retrograde step.

At present, Mr. Roberts said, the cost to the province for each student in university runs about $674 a year. It is going up. This is, unquestionably, a perennial problem for the tax gatherers, but the answer is not a tax on doctorates or philosophy.

In the first place, there is no specific relationship between education and ability to pay. Generally, educated people earn more than the uneducated. But it's possible for a master of science to make less money than a man who can't sign his own name.

In the second place, the public authorities are in the education business in the public interest—not to give specific benefits to specific individuals. Some would argue that this public interest would best be served by making education free at all levels on a merit basis. This is the direction in which the education system has been moving.

Then again, logic would suggest that if graduates should repay the state at one level, they should repay all costs of education from kindergarten up.

As long as the principle of public support for education is accepted, there is no reason to argue for the recovery of state costs at any level.

April 26, 1962... Canada and the United States signed the Rush-Bagot Treaty 145 years ago today—in 1817—following the end of the war of 1812. It limited the number of warships the two countries could maintain on the Great Lakes and Lake Champlain.

Reborn A Giant

By GREGORY CLARK

EVERY time I hear Bedrich Smetana's "The Moldau" from his symphonic suite, "My Country," I wonder what must have been the feelings of the Czech audience who heard it for the first time. The same with Sibelius' "Finlandia." The first time, did the Finnish audience rise up and yell for joy?

Smetana died away back in 1884; and Finlandia may have been written when Sibelius was in Paris or Switzerland. The musicologists may tell us that on the first performances of these compositions, the critics were sniffy. Music at the symphony level was available to a very limited public until recent years. Only cities had halls or orchestras. And in the cities, only a section of the intelligentsia was interested. Concert halls were only so big.

The phonograph widened the public of great music. But it was radio that showered it far and wide over all the earth. And suddenly the phonograph was reborn, a giant. Now unschooled men like me, in city and town and village, and away off in the bush, can thrill and wonder why our own country cannot have a sound like the Moldau or Finlandia to make us stand up, breathing deep, with tears in our eyes.

The Roman Catholic Church became so powerful in south Japan that the ruling shogunate proscribed Christianity, expelled the Spanish and Portuguese, and massed thousands of Christians

Nagasaki Prefecture, on the western tip of Kyushu, Japan's southernmost island, is traditionally the doorway through which foreign influences have entered Japan. It was there that St. Francis Xavier landed in 1549. He stayed in Japan a little over two years, but his missionary efforts were so successful that within 50 years there were half a million converts.

Today, Nagasaki is once again the most Christian of all Japanese prefectures, having nearly 100,000 of Japan's 800,000 Christians. (The Japan of 1962 has the same number of Christians of a population of 103,000,000 as the Japan of 1630 did of 20,000,000.) This figure does not include the estimated 30,000 secret Christians, who recognize the spiritual authority of no church and who in many cases are obviously "Christian" in name only.

Trying to locate secret Christians is in itself a frustrating business, but it is child's play compared with formulating some idea of what they believe in and what kind of religious life they lead.

However, on the remote island of Hirado, where Xavier first set foot on Japanese soil, there is the small village of Nishiki, all of whose 230 families are said to be secret Christians. Entering the village, which stands on a gently curved, sandy beach framed by nylon fishing nets hanging out to dry, you pass a Buddhist graveyard. In the living room of general store owner Masaru Yamada, one of the village's leading citizens, you sit under a typical Shinto family altar, freshly decorated with sprigs of the sacred sakaki tree.

"All this is just window-dressing," the mayor of the village says airily. "Although our people are buried according to Buddhist rituals, we always hold secret Christian services first."

A similar mixture of Christianity and more traditional Japanese religions permeates their religious life. Mr. Yamada says: "We hide our altars in various local warehouses. There are no services or masses, except for purification ceremonies on New Year's Day."

"Is there a priesthood, then?"

"Our religious leader is a Mr. Tsuji, who is the third generation of the family to hold the position. Under him there are seven priests who minister to the village and hold ceremonies on special occasions."

"Do the secret Christians place any special emphasis on Sunday?"

"Mr. Yamada considered for a moment: 'Well, village girls are forbidden to sew anything on Sundays. No one knows the origin of this prohibition, but they are told that God will punish them if they sew garments on a Sunday.' Apart from that, Sunday has no special significance. The symbol of the cross is not used in daily life among the villagers, but if someone dies it is secretly placed on the body before it is sent for Buddhist rituals and cremation."

Mayor Sanjiro Hirata, who was formerly one of Mr. Tsuji's priests, showed me a mimeographed booklet entitled Christian Prayers for This Village.

"These prayers were formerly handed down by word of mouth," he explains, "but to preserve them, we recently had them copied out in Japanese phonetic script."

The prayers are apparently in Latin although the transcription into Japanese phonetics makes them almost incomprehensible; they have been handed down directly since the early missionary days. The village has had no contact with organized Christianity, although there is a big Catholic church only five miles away. Appended to the list of prayers are "10 commandments for this village," which are the familiar 10 commandments of the Bible.

Mr. Yamada remarked that the oppression of the Tokugawa Shogunate apparently became so severe that even the secret Christians began to lose contact with the origins of their faith. This became immediately obvious a few moments later when he was asked whether secret Christians regarded the Virgin Mary or Jesus Christ as being divine. He pondered a moment, then asked: "Who are they?"

A Closed Door

By MARQUEN CHILDS

THE effort to keep the size of the nuclear club confined to the three charter members is running into difficulties.

Pressures are being applied both at home and abroad to get the U.S. government to help provide France with the initiation fee. The argument is that by selling to the French nuclear devices and nuclear know-how we would speed the day when France possesses its own nuclear deterrent. This is bound to come sooner or later, so the argument runs, since President de Gaulle has already moved a considerable distance on an independent nuclear course.

Such a sale in France, and the franc is a very hard currency indeed, would help the United States check the outflow of gold and dollars and thereby correct the threatening imbalance of recent years. That is the carrot being held out to try to persuade a reluctant administration to go along with a nuclear arms deal for France.

But while at a certain level with respect to Britain, because the British had advanced a considerable way toward getting their own nuclear weapons they were allowed to join the club and gain in knowledge and prestige from membership. Many on both sides of the Atlantic now doubt the wisdom of Britain's decision to achieve an independent nuclear development. Both the enormous cost and the political implications help to explain why Prime Minister Macmillan's government is in trouble.

The fact of the British exception has been a major irritant in the struggle of France to qualify. You gave it to your British friends but you deny it to us. That is the reproach of the proud French who speak with redoubled zeal of their determination to go down the nuclear course no matter how many billions of francs and how many years it will take.

What is most deeply resented in the White House is the effort to make it seem that American refusal to share with France is motivated by hostility toward President de Gaulle. This is a line taken by those who would count themselves among the champions of the great man. What they are doing, it seems fairly obvious to those wrestling with this extraordinarily difficult problem.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk will go to Athens with the belief that once more what is essential is a holding operation. The West Germans are plagued with growing uncertainty about the future of their government, with factionalism increasingly sharp as the advancing years and his rebuff in the election last year tend to weaken Chancellor Adenauer's hold. Prime Minister Macmillan, who arrived in Washington at the end of the week, faces an election next year with the prospects for his Conservative government ever more dim.

President Kennedy today has by far the strongest position of any leader in the alliance from almost any viewpoint. It is from a position of strength—greatly increased military strength over the past 12 months—and a confidence—at least as high as any time since January of 1961 that the administration is determined to hold the line against the further spread of nuclear weapons.

Admittedly, it is a thin line and the French argument has a kind of persuasive strength. But, if the French were to get the initiation fee, then the demand of the Germans would immediately follow. The dam would be wide open and the dire prophecies of nuclear holocaust would be at hand.

In Name Only

By JOHN CAMPBELL

from Tokyo

ALTHOUGH it is now 100 years since Japan again allowed Christianity into its predominantly Buddhist society, more than 30,000 "secret Christians" in Nagasaki Prefecture still hide their faith jealously—as if the persecutions of feudal days were still in progress.

Altars are hidden in warehouses, prayers chanted in secret have been handed down since the days of St. Francis Xavier, rituals over the centuries have become confused with Buddhist and Shinto rites.

Just as the mountain songs of the American Ozarks have preserved English words and expressions long since forgotten in the land of their origin, so the "secret Christians" are living relics of the early days of Christian proselytization in Japan. Ironically, Christian churches today find them harder to convert than Buddhists or Shintolists.

Nagasaki Prefecture, on the western tip of Kyushu, Japan's southernmost island, is traditionally the doorway through which foreign influences have entered Japan. It was there that St. Francis Xavier landed in 1549. ## Douglas Urges Debates on TV

ROSETOWN, Sask. (UPI) — New Democratic Party Leader T. C. Douglas last night joined Liberal Leader Pearson in the demand for a nationwide series of television debates with Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Douglas Proposal:

Health Scheme Share 60 Per Cent for Ottawa

SASKATOON (CP) — New Democratic Party leader T. C. Douglas said Friday the federal government should pay 60 per cent of a national health scheme.

He said his party would set up such a plan on the basis of 60 per cent federal participation and 40 per cent by the provinces.

At a federal level, payment would come from general revenue and the provinces could select their own methods of raising their share.

NO PROBLEM

Financing would not be a problem, he said. By having a planned economy and putting everyone to work, the gross national product could be in-

Diefenbaker in Prince Albert

New Aviation Office Hinted

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) — A thinly-veiled hint that establishment of a new, separate federal department of aviation may be under study was dropped Friday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

But the non-appearance of an Indian delegation, which had been scheduled to meet him, brought postponement of his plans to issue an announcement which he said would interest Indians across Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker indicated the announcement had to do with Indian treaty rights to hunt in forest preserves and other similar areas.

The hint, concerning an aviation ministry separate from the transport department, was given to reporters at the Regina air terminal just before the prime minister flew here to spend two days in his home constituency.

MEETS VETERAN

Mr. Diefenbaker was shaking hands with people in the lobby and met William Taylor, English-born RAF veteran now employed with the Regina Flying Club.

Mr. Taylor asked whether the government might set up a separate department of government to deal with civil aviation.

The prime minister said it was a good question and added that if it weren't for the reporters standing nearby "I might have something to tell you."

He agreed with Mr. Taylor that the transport department is "too large" and said a separate department could deal with space matters as well as civil aviation.

"All I can say is that your question is a very good one and I'll give it consideration."

With that, the prime minister boarded his chartered Canadian Pacific Airlines plane and flew north to Prince Albert.

RAIN AND SLEET

He arrived in his home town just after a rain and sleet storm had hit the area, and went to the special railway car parked on a siding where he and Mrs. Diefenbaker are staying.

Saturday night he is scheduled to be nominated as Progressive Conservative candidate in this constituency he has represented since 1953. Then he will fly overnight to Ottawa where he is to meet Prime Minister Macmillan on Monday and Tuesday.

Pearson Welcomed By Happy Crowd

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — More than 100 horn-toting autos escorted Liberal Leader Pearson into this provincial capital Friday in the biggest demonstration so far in his election campaign.

Escorted on another handshaking tour through Grand Falls and Gander, Mr. Pearson flew into St. John's to be greeted by 300 persons at the airport, decorated cars and hundreds of signs along the route from Torbay Airport to the city.

TWO-DAY TOUR

At his side was Premier Smallwood, who has personally conducted the two-day tour of Newfoundland. The St. John's preparation, capped by a major speech Friday night, provided fresh evidence that Mr. Smallwood means business in seeking to deliver all seven federal seats to the Liberals. St. John's East and St. John's West elected Conservatives in 1958.

Mr. Smallwood has shown more activity in this election than in any for some time, perhaps ever, to aid the federal cause.

The two leaders made a special flight by helicopter to Grand Falls and Mr. Smallwood, armed with a voice amplifier, steered the national leader through handshakes which he said totalled more than 600.

He claimed 1,900 hands were shaken Thursday.

"Gentlemen, have you met Mr. Pearson?" he inquired firmly inside and outside stores and at the gates of plants.

U.S. Group Threatens To Set Up Rival Union

WASHINGTON (CP) — A departmental head of the AFL-CIO threatened Friday to help launch organization of a labor federation which would rival the Canadian Labor Congress if the CLC does not "protect" the Carpenters' union in the Newfoundland loggers' jurisdictional dispute.

"Some of our international unions have been treated so badly by the CLC in Canada that if this keeps up, we may just have to try to start a federation of our own in Canada," said Peter McGavin, chief of the AFL-CIO's maritime trades department.

He said in an interview that his department, representing some 41 international unions, supports the United Brotherhood of Carpenters which claims that the CLC leadership has been throwing up roadblocks against the union's attempts to organize the Newfoundland loggers.

The Carpenters, with some 65,000 members in Canada, have stopped paying dues to the CLC and walked out of the CLC convention at Vancouver several weeks ago.

The International Woodworkers of America, with some 37,000 members in Canada, had accused the Carpenters of raiding tactics in Newfoundland.

In Ottawa, CLC President Claude Jodoin said McGavin's statement was "news to me" and "unwarranted."

Canada's high commissioner in Lagos, Nigeria, T. L. M. Carter, was appointed Canadian ambassador to Dahomey and Niger. Carter is also ambassador to Senegal and Sierra Leone.

Canadian high commissioner in Accra, Ghana, B. M. Williams has been named Canadian ambassador to the Ivory Coast and Upper Volta.

Green said the new appointments would complete the program announced earlier this year to strengthen Canada's ties with the French-speaking countries of Africa.

NEW LOW PRICES ON ALL ATLAS TIRES

Eso dealers sell many lines of Atlas tires. There's a quality Atlas tire for every type of driving and every budget.

The prices on all Atlas tires have now been substantially reduced, with no reduction in quality.

For instance, the "first line" Atlas Plycon, the Atlas tire equivalent to those installed on new cars, used to list at $24.35 (6:50x13, tubeless blackwall). The new suggested retail price is $18.40. In the same way, the "third line" Atlas Mile-Pak, the Atlas economy tire, used to list at $15.95 (6:70x15, tubed blackwall). The new suggested retail price is $12.95.

Atlas recognizes there are other tires on the market for $9.95 or less. They are called "fourth line" tires. And they are just that. The price reflects the quality. Atlas does not sell a fourth line tire because it has not found a fourth line tire that will meet Atlas standards of quality and performance.

The next time you're in the market for tires, see your Eso dealer first. Compare his Atlas quality. Compare his Atlas price. Compare his Eso-matic credit arrangements and his new Atlas guarantee. On any basis, you'll find his deal is "right with the times" — the top deal for you.

Second U.S. Blast Twin of the First

WASHINGTON (AP)—The second blast in the new United States nuclear test series was fired at dawn Friday, a repeat performance of the initial aerial explosion of two days ago near Christmas Island in the Pacific.

The wording of both test announcements was identical except for the time element. Friday's news release merely said:

"A nuclear test detonation took place at about 11 a.m. EST today, 6 a.m. test site time, in the vicinity of Christmas Island. The detonation was in the intermediate yield range. The device was dropped from an airplane. The test was part of operation Dominic now under way in the Pacific."

This description means the detonation had more explosive power than 20,000 tons of TNT but less than 1,000,000 tons of TNT.

Police Battle 2,000

TOKYO (AP)—Approximately 2,000 Japanese students tried to force their way into the United States Embassy Friday in protest against American nuclear tests in the Pacific. They clashed with police, who beat them back in kicking, shoving and brawling.

But it was a relatively small demonstration. Japan appeared to be taking the resumption of tests calmly.

Groups of about 100 tried to storm the embassy. They ran head-on into the police and they were thrown back, shouting and protesting. About 100 got as far as the gates.

Friday night, about 500 students returned to the embassy and tried to stage a sit-down. Police broke it up.

Military Salute For Mac

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy welcomed Prime Minister Macmillan with full military honors Friday and declared their policy talks would range over all the world trouble spots.

Macmillan, replying, said he was "grateful for the chance to be here, especially at this time when, although there is much cause for anxiety there is also much need for patience and firmness combined."

Both men noted that this will be their fifth meeting since Kennedy took office in January last year.

Standing beside Kennedy, the British leader received a 19-gun salute.

Street Artist Attracts Crowd

Sir Roy Wins Election

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters)—Sir Roy Welensky Friday night was winning the Rhodesian Federation's "little election" as authorities moved to prevent clashes between Negro political parties in Northern Rhodesia.

Welensky's United Federal Party had won 11 of the 15 seats being contested in results announced up to midnight, with one going to an independent and the other three undecided.

UNOPPOSED

Welensky, who called the election to get a mandate for negotiating the federation's future with Britain, had won even before the voting started—his candidates were unopposed in 10 of the 30 constituencies.

Reports from the contested constituencies indicated voting was slow and unenthusiastic.

BOYCOTTED

All but one of the opposition parties—Negro and white—boycotted Friday's election, thus assuring Welensky a big majority.

New outbreaks of violence were reported from Northern Rhodesia and the government of the territory gave local officials the power to ban public gatherings of more than two persons.

Held by policemen, demonstrator collapses under blow from knee of another Tokyo cop.

Police Get Overtime To Say Farewell

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver policemen will pile up almost 400 hours in overtime giving Chief George Archer a 15-minute send-off.

About 130 off-duty policemen have been ordered to attend Chief Archer's change-of-command parade Monday.

Each man receives a minimum of three hours overtime when called in while off shift. The men will take time off.

"You should get out of the 'cume more often, less—sip down to the corner shop as' get me a packet o' fags!"

Jury Clears Police In City Jail Death

A coroner's jury yesterday cleared Victoria police of blame in the death of a patient in the "drunk tank" of the city jail.

They found Herbert Stevenson, 35, no fixed address, died April 21 of a fractured skull suffered in an accidental fall before he entered jail.

The jury said there was "no negligence on the part of the police who had Stevenson in their custody."

Witnesses unfolded the story of an injured drinker who was handed over to police because there was nowhere else to put him.

Police saw no marks on his face and did not know he was hurt. They put him in the cell reserved for drunks, where he died of his injuries.

Stevenson was described by Dr. D. E. Alcorn, psychiatrist, as "a chronic alcoholic" with paranoid tendencies.

SEARCH FOR BOTTLE—Evidence showed Stevenson returned to his former house at 174 Bushby in search of a bottle of whisky.

He had recently sold the house to a new owner—John Calver—who had removed the front steps for repairs. Stevenson, forgetting a warning about the steps, fell into a hole where the steps had been, staggered away and fell twice more.

BLOOD ON FACE—William Cox, Stevenson's friend for 40 years, said Stevenson staggered into the Cox home at 107 Joseph about 9 p.m. with blood on his face.

Cox put him on a couch, cleaned his face, refused his demands for more liquor and summoned police.

Police arrived, took Stevenson away on a stretcher, and admitted him to jail for the second time that day. He had been jailed earlier as drunk and released on $10 bail.

FLAT OBJECT—Dr. Ross McNeely, Jubilee Hospital pathologist, said Stevenson's skull fracture, brain damage and blood clot on the brain had evidently been caused by a blow from a flat object.

Bruises on knee and arm could have been caused by a fall—the same fall which resulted in Stevenson's striking his head on a flat surface and fracturing his skull.

Lawyer Lloyd McKenzie, representing the police officers who had dealt with Stevenson, asked Dr. McNeely if it was possible to confuse the symptoms of brain damage with those of intoxication.

The pathologist said such

Red Cross Drive Passes Goal Donors, Canvassers Praised

The Red Cross fundraising campaign topped its $79,000 goal yesterday by a margin of $373.

"Through the most generous support of Victorians and the ardent efforts of our many canvassers, division chairmen and captains, we are pleased to announce a successful campaign and the achievement of our financial goal," said campaign chairman W. W. Lewis.

It was not an easy task this year, but the Red Cross has a special position in the hearts of many Victorians which has enabled canvassers to carry out their jobs successfully. The many community services extended by the Red Cross will now be able to carry on another year.

Crime Probe Halts Sitting

TORONTO (CP)—Sessions of the Ontario royal commission on crime were cut off Friday until the province's Court of Appeal rules on whether three men deeply involved in the inquiry are entitled to full legal representation before the commission.

Toronto lawyer Walton C. Rose won an order from three of the court judges directing the royal commissioner, Mr. Justice W. D. Roach of the same court, to submit the question to the full bench for a ruling.

Until the issue is settled by the province's top tribunal, commission hearings are automatically suspended. First one called off was a secret session scheduled for Friday afternoon. It may be about 10 days before resumption of the sittings, which opened March 21.

Strike Vote Bill Passes Reading

WINNIPEG (CP)—A government bill imposing stricter controls on unions received final approval in the Manitoba legislature Friday.

Third reading followed a two-hour wrangle in which opposition parties fought vainly to postpone action on the controversial bill.

The bill provides for secret government-supervised strike votes and prosecutions by the attorney-general's department for violations of the Labor Relations Act.

IMPORTANT CLAUSE—Another important clause would make unions legal entities, but this section is to be proclaimed later. It is to go to the Court of Appeal for a legal interpretation first.

Five amendments from the floor were all defeated by the Progressive Conservative government majority before the bill was finally passed by a 31-20 vote.

The bill has its roots in a bitter six-month strike in 1960 at a meatpacking plant in Brandon. The strike at Brandon Packers Limited provoked a judicial inquiry conducted by Mr. Justice G. E. Tritschler.

Mr. Justice Tritschler, now chief justice, recommended that unions be made legal entities and that government-supervised strike votes be instituted to prevent abuses.

The Tritschler report drew prolonged and bitter opposition from labor circles.

'Security Not End In Itself'

TRAIL (CP)—Canadian must beware of looking to the state to provide security to the extent that the individual loses incentive to provide for himself. Charles Bantok, B.C. manager of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said Friday.

U.S. Depends on Canada For Freshwater Fish

QUEBEC (CP)—The Fisheries Council of Canada said Friday the United States is almost entirely dependent on Canadian sources for its freshwater fish products.

The trade association urged that tariffs on inland fish entering the U.S. from Canada be eliminated. This would ease the load of rising overhead costs on Canadian producers, it said.

The council, wrapping up its 17th annual convention, claimed that Canadian whitefish, pike and mullets "have become essential" to the game and smoked fish industries in the U.S.

Whitefish from Manitoba and Great Slave Lake in the Northwest territories were the only ones on the continent suitable for smoking, it added.

Heathman Confession May 'Awake' Public

Charles Heathman's sensational confession of murder, published in a Vancouver newspaper last week, may have served a useful purpose in awakening public realization that the process of law is "not infallible."

He said Dr. G. H. Milton of the department of psychology, Victoria University, at a panel discussion on the impact of mass communication media on the public philosophy.

'SOME VIOLATION'

Dr. Milton said he felt the Vancouver newspaper which published the confession was guilty of "some violation of their responsibility" in failing to notify the attorney-general immediately after obtaining the confession.

Fellow panelist R. J. Bower, editor-in-chief of The Daily Colonist, told an audience of some 200 at the meeting sponsored by the Alumni Association of UBC the Heathman confession was still too much in the news to determine the rights and wrongs of its publication.

CASE IN REVERSE

He said the sensational spy roundup in Ottawa sparked by the confession of Russian embassy code clerk Igor Gouzenko was a "Heathman case in reverse."

Gouzenko, said Mr. Bower, poured out the full story of the spy ring to The Ottawa Journal, which called in the RCMP and held the story back in the public interest.

NO SPECIAL BEAT

"In such questionable matters, the publisher must balance the final decision very carefully," said Mr. Bower. "The Journal got no special 'beat' on the story when it was finally released."

"But the Journal felt this was a duty that must be performed as a responsible group of citizens."

In the Heathman case, he added, one factor in favor of the Vancouver newspaper was the fact Heathman would still be at large if the newspaper had not obtained his confession.

"And any man who would make such a confession—if he is not the murderer he claims to be—must have some mental aberration."

The Heathman case was

Newspapers Rapped, Defended

raised during the question period which followed a criticism of mass media communications and newspapers in particular by Dr. Milton and a defence of the newspaper's role by Mr. Bower.

Dr. Milton charged recent surveys had shown newspapers ranked below television in presenting factual news, in the opinion of the average citizen.

He said the written word was "more likely to be believed if it appeared on the news pages than on the editorial page."

Newspapers had fallen into disrepute through "hoaxes" and "slanted" news coverage, he continued. But at the same time he said it would be virtually impossible to put out a newspaper without some "slant or bias."

Mass media advertising aimed in for criticism by Dr.

Milton, who cited "sleep learning" as one example of "exaggerated claims and irresponsible ads."

The claims of the promoters for the "learn as you sleep" schools was "completely out of line" with the findings of psychologists and the "gadgets sold are overpriced."

REPLY GIVEN

"We would be delighted if some authority on sleep reading would come into our office and make such statements for publication," replied Mr. Bower.

"But no one has come forward and we can't say it since we are not experts on the subject."

He said dishonest advertising was refused and Canadian papers published more local, national and international news than any papers of comparable size in Europe or the United States.

BY THE BYLINE

On the whole, Canadian news content was "unsalted" and "interpretive" news stories were usually identified as such by the writer's byline.

"If there is bias, then it tends to lie in the direction of our accepted principles of democracy."

'So It Will be Somewhere Else'

Sonny Liston, at home in Philadelphia, shrugs off news that he's been denied licence to box in New York, thereby cancelling multi-million dollar heavyweight title fight with champion Floyd Patterson. "So it (the fight) will be somewhere else," he signed. (AP Photofax.)

Now Everybody Wants Slice Of Patterson-Liston Pie

NEW YORK — Promoters were already wheeling and dealing for a chance to stage the Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson heavyweight title fight a few short hours after the New York State Athletic Commission's refusal to grant Liston a licence.

Julius November, Patterson's lawyer, mentioned Seattle, Philadelphia and Los Angeles as possibilities.

Pennsylvania and Illinois state commissions said they would licence Liston, but California refused, apparently vetoing any chance of a Los Angeles fight.

And, as might be expected, Archie Moore stepped into the picture through his manager, Doc Kearns, challenging Patterson to a title fight in San Diego in September.

"I've got a flock of millionaires ready to guarantee Patterson $1,000,000 to fight Moore in San Diego," Kearns said.

Patterson won the title by knocking out Moore in five rounds in 1956. Moore is almost unbeaten since then, and recently beat Alejandro Lavarante, the No. 3 contender.

While the dickering went on, the controversy raged as to whether or not Liston got a bum decision in New York.

MODEL CHAMPION

Pete Rademacher, badly beaten by Patterson, said Liston would prove himself a model champion if given a chance.

"At one time I had the feeling—about a year ago—that Liston wouldn't be the kind of man I would want a boy to look up to," Rademacher said. "But I feel now that if Liston can prove himself, he'll show the right kind of responsibility."

CONN DISAGREES

Former heavyweight contender Billy Conn also disagreed with the commission.

"I think he deserves a chance to fight. I don't see where he did anything so awfully bad. I wouldn't deprive him of a chance for the title. There are worse guys around than Sonny."

But former world lightweight champion Willie Ritchie backed the commission, saying a contender for the championship "should be a decent citizen to begin with."

BAD EXAMPLE

Those against Liston cited his criminal record as a bad example for youth. But well-known leaders said he should have his chance.

Perhaps those disagreeing most loudly with the commission were hotel, restaurant and night club operators in New York. They claim to have lost $100,000,000 with the fight going elsewhere.

Comets Tie WHL Final

EDMONTON (CP) — Goalie Ed Johnston led Spokane Comets to a 7-4 victory over Edmonton Flyers before 5,427 fans Friday night to deadlock the Western Hockey League playoff finals at three games apiece.

The seventh and deciding game will be played here tonight.

Johnston, a former Flyer, blocked 42 shots, 16 of them in the final period as Edmonton dominated play almost throughout.

Johnston combined with two veterans to give Comets their win, their first in Edmonton since winning at their home.

Veteran Steve Wittek scored two goals for Spokane and veteran Bev Bell counted one and set up Spokane's third period goal that doused an Edmonton powerplay.

VANCOUVER — Officials of the Inter-City Lacrosse League, who brought Burnaby Norburns into the league this season, are blasting them.

Cliff Sepka had three goals and four assists; Mike Gates, Ken Oddy and Ron Loftus scored twice, and Paul Parnell, Dave Torg, Gord Stidolph and Bill Wilkes got one goal each.

For Norburns, last year's Canadian junior finalists, Gary Stevens, Ken Anderson, Don Boyd and Bill Colclough each scored once.

Liston's Police Record Cited In Boxing Licence Refusal

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission denied a licence to Sonny Liston Friday because of the persons around him and his own police record.

The action eliminated New York City as the site for Liston's title fight with champion Floyd Patterson, and may have cost him the fight entirely.

Julius November, Patterson's attorney, said the commission would "have to re-evaluate the situation" in the light of the ruling, and said that "from a legal viewpoint the contract for the fight is no longer valid."

November said the contract, signed March 16 by Liston, Patterson and Championship Sports Inc., as promoters, could be revived by all three parties, if they all want to.

AWARE OF RECORD

He said Patterson was well aware of Liston's record when he signed for the fight, but that the fighter would have to see if the commission had uncovered any new information about Liston that would make Patterson change his mind.

November said Patterson would study the commission findings and make a decision. "But at the present point there isn't any contract," he said.

NO SECRET

Patterson hesitated for nearly a year before he decided to give Liston a shot at the crown. He made no secret of the fact that Liston's record was the reason.

The three-man commission unanimously turned down Liston's application.

Al Solan, vice-president of Championship Sports, said he was "very surprised" and said he expected to make an announcement shortly on a new site.

The match was expected to draw at least $1,000,000 at the gate at Yankee Stadium or the Polo Grounds in September, plus at least twice that for radio, movies and closed circuit television rights.

The commission issued a lengthy written explanation of its decision. The statement said "we do not take the position that Liston's police record alone bars him from a licence in this state."

It added: "The history of Liston's past associations provide a pattern of suspicion. . . . We cannot ignore the possibility that these long-time associations continue to this day. The wrong people do not disengage easily."

The commission mentioned Liston's two convictions, for robbery and larceny and assault to kill, and numerous arrests.

The statement said: "There would be more than a calculated risk in the issuance of a licence on this application."

Protest Works; Soccer Replay

A successful protest over a semi-final game has led to an unexpected preliminary in the B.C. minor soccer Tournament of Champions, scheduled today and tomorrow at Royal Athletic Park.

Burdett Beavers of North Vancouver and Powell River Legion will replay their Division VI semi-final this morning at 9:45 at Central Park, with the winner going on to tomorrow's final.

Powell River won the semi-final, 1-0, but Burdett protested because a referee disallowed a goal scored by Burdett on an incorrect rule interpretation.

Otherwise, things go as scheduled, with four games today and three tomorrow at Royal Athletic Park, each deciding a division championship. First game starts at 11:30 a.m.

From an Angel

Tiger Hitter Norm Cash exhibits painful reaction from fast ball thrown at his back by Joe Nuxhall of Los Angeles in sixth inning. Pitch started rhubarb, gory details of which appear below.

Two Players, Manager Thrown Out In Stormy Inning in Tiger Stadium

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ejected players and runs came in wholesale lots Friday night as Detroit Tigers belted Los Angeles Angels 13-4 in a wild game in which Angels pitcher Joe Nuxhall was fined $50 for the most serious offense.

The Tigers were cruising behind a 10-4 lead when they came to bat in the sixth. Billy Bruton's single knocked in one run and Al Kaline's triple counted for two more. Then Nuxhall uncorked a pitch that hit Tiger first baseman Norm Cash.

Plate umpire Ed Runge went out to caution Nuxhall — and Nuxhall threw the ball into the first base stands. He was ejected. Manager Billy Rigney went out to protest and touched second base umpire Ed Hurley, who flipped Rigney's hands off him.

The Detroit fans began pelting Angels' outfielders Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner with debris, and they came into the dugout to get batting helmets to wear on the field.

FINED $50

Rigney and utility outfielder Chuck Turner were ejected with Nuxhall, who was fined $50.

Elsewhere in the American League, Cleveland's Dick Donovan won his fourth without a loss by beating Minnesota 7-2, the New York Yankees outslugged Washington 10-6, Kansas City belted Baltimore 14-3 and Chicago White Sox defeated Boston 7-4.

In the National League, Milwaukee edged Houston behind Bob Shan's four-hitter, St. Louis walloped Cincinnati 14-3, Philadelphia outlasted the New York Mets 11-9, and the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped Pittsburgh 7-2.

Chuck Miller batted Jim Davenport home from third with a one-out sacrifice fly in the ninth inning that gave San Francisco Giants a 5-4 victory over Chicago Cubs.

Davenport had singled and advanced to third when Stu Miller, seeking a bump, pushed a single to short right field.

Pinch hitter Willie McCovey broke Cal Koonce's fine effort for Chicago with a two-run homer in the seventh that tied the score 4-4.

Ex-Giant Andre Rodgers, the Cubs shortstop, bobbled Davenport's two-out bouncer, to give McCovey the chance to hit.

Before that, Koonce, a 21-year-old right-hander had limited the Giants to three hits Cheney (4), Ruppelmeier (4), Harman (7), Strohman (5) and Schmidt (Home run; New York: Boyer (3rd), Howard (2nd), Maris (2nd); Washington: Schaefer (1st), Johnson (2nd).

Stirling Moss Lapses Again

LONDON (CP) — Racing driver Stirling Moss, injured when his V-8 Lotus spun off the Goodwood auto circuit on Easter Monday, lapsed into unconsciousness again Friday night after briefly opening his eyes and trying to talk to his doctors.

The hospital in suburban Wimbledon said he was semi-conscious, maintaining his improvement and trying to talk when aroused. He spent 90 minutes in the x-ray room Friday.

Moss was travelling at more than 100 miles an hour when his car hurtled straight ahead at a bend Monday.

He suffered head injuries described as "moderately severe" as well as fractures of the left leg, shoulder and one rib. However, an orthopedic specialist who examined him Thursday said the bone injuries were not serious.

Moss had just set a lap record of 105.37 miles an hour when the accident occurred. Observers said a jammed throttle apparently was the cause.

Rugby Cup Playoff Won't Be Finished

Second half of the McKinnle Cup rugby series has been scrapped, and the cup awarded to Vancouver Reps on the basis of their 13-3 victory over Victoria Crimson Tide here Feb. 10.

Announcement was made at last night's annual general meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union. Vancouver officials had indicated shortly after the first game of the total-point series that the second game could not be worked in, due to the three-game visit of the New Zealand universities team. However, local officials had insisted that the game would be played eventually.

In other news at the meeting, reports said that the number of teams in the Victoria Rugby Union had doubled in the past year, and that Cowichan Rugby Club would enter next season.

Cowichan will draw its players from Brentwood and Shalman Lake schools as well as high schools in the Duncan-Cowichan area.

President Peter Clark, vice-president Harry Turner, junior secretary Morris Lancaster were all returned for another term. New officers named were Hugh Farquhar, vice-president; Ray Calton, treasurer; Tilman Briggs, high school coordinator; Jack Patrick, publicity; and Ian Black, chairman of referees.

Donor Opens Little League

Merv Wooliams, donor of the land on which the Triangle Little League baseball diamond is situated, will throw out the first ball to open the Triangle League season Sunday afternoon at 1.

IGA plays Eiders in the first game and POs and Buffaloes play the second at 3. Incidentally, the league needs managers and coaches for its minor teams.

THE PALMER METHOD

by Arnold Palmer

CHIPPING AND PUTTING ARE SIMILAR

Because the two strokes have much in common, a good chippier should not be a poor putter, and vice versa.

Today's illustrations show me at the finish of a long putt (25 feet or more) and a chip from just off the green. Note the similarity of positions.

In both shots, the eyes should be over the ball, weight shifted to the left, feet square to the line. Only the arms and shoulders should be used in the stroke. Restrict body motion.

If you will finish both shots as illustrated—with the club-square to the target—you'll improve in each department.

Four-and-Twenty Heads for Europe

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—Word along the racetrack grapevine is that the star Canadian-owned thoroughbred, Four-and-Twenty, may be pointed at two of Europe's leading prizes.

Whispers in the British paddocks are that the four-year-old son of Blue Prince-Sixpence, owned by Alberta Ranches, may go for a big race at Ascot in July and for the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe at Paris in October.

Calgary sportsman Max Bell, part owner of Alberta Ranches, is said to have told British bloodstock officials that it is the "definite intention" to run Four-and-Twenty in the important event at Longchamp in October.

Four-and-Twenty became the leading money-winner in California during the winter after winning three rich handicaps, the San Carlos, the San Fernando and the Santa Anita Maturity.

Four-and-Twenty became the leading money-winner in California during the winter after winning three rich handicaps, the San Carlos, the San Fernando and the Santa Anita Maturity.

Ladies Ignore Falling Trees

Wind, rain and falling trees failed to stop yesterday's qualifying round of the Victoria and district ladies' handicap two-ball foursomes competition yesterday, as 115 golfers battled their way around Gorge Vale Golf Club.

Only one twosome failed to start the round, in which Mrs. R. McPherson and Mrs. E. Dye won medalist honors with 76½ net. Defending champions Dorothy Poyntz and Joan Lawson for the championship round, which begins Tuesday at Victoria Golf Club.

EXTRA HAZARDS

The weather provided some extras in the way of hazards. A tree fell between two pairs of golfers on the second fairway, and two trees were down in the rough on either side of the seventh green.

Tuesday's draw:

9:30—Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. E. Dye vs. Dr. A. Hassel-Gren and Mrs. H. Poyntz.

9:45—Mrs. V. Butler and Mrs. H. Poyntz vs. Mrs. A. Oshorogh and Mrs. G. Smith.

9:55—Mrs. E. Heston and Mrs. R. Roberts vs. Mrs. C. Chapman and Mrs. C. Hart.

10:05—Mrs. J. Todd and Mrs. D. Wainwright vs. Mrs. T. Christie and Mrs. G. Lewis.

10:15—Mrs. J. Castle and Mrs. J. Clark vs. Mrs. K. Lawson and Mrs. R. Poyntz.

10:25—Mrs. R. Saunders and Mrs. C. Holland vs. Mrs. W. Pitt and Mrs. H. Poyntz.

Garden Notes

Hot, Edible Candles Last

By M. V. CHENUT, F.R.S.
MEXICAN CHILI PEPPER (J.G., Victoria)—I was most interested to hear that you still have a plant of the ornamental Mexican Chili Pepper from the seeds I distributed to Colonist readers six years ago. The tiny peppers, carried upright, like scarlet Christmas candles, are edible, although they are hotter than the hinges of you-know-where.

There can be used whole in pickles and for making seafood sauces, or dried and pulverized into chili powder for the flavoring of chili sauce, chili con carne, spaghetti and similar dishes.

WILD MORNING GLORY (E. L., Victoria)—There is no chemical spray sufficiently selective to destroy bindweed without also killing other broad-leaved plants growing nearby. About the best way to eradicate this persistent weed is to paint or sponge the leaves with Killax or Brushkill, being careful not to get any of the chemical on the foliage of desirable plants.

It is important not to mix up the solution stronger than recommended in the directions on the package. A too strong solution will kill the leaves too quickly, before they have a chance to pass the poison on down to the roots. Don't expect a single treatment to clear your garden of bindweed—You have to keep everlastingly after it to get a clean kill.

PRUNING OLEANDER (E.A.M., Victoria)—The best time to prune a leggy Oleander is in the fall, just before bringing the plant indoors for the winter. There is no special way to prune—just cut away enough to keep the plant a nice size and shape. The prunings can be rooted in pots of damp sand or in jars of water to make new plants.

FLOWERLESS DAFFODILS (K.D.P., Sidney)—The reason why your daffodils haven't bloomed this year is because you took up the bulbs too soon last year, before the foliage had completed its job of plumping up the bulbs for this year's flowers. It is correct to pick off the faded flower heads before they can set seed, but the leaves should not be cut down nor the bulbs lifted until the foliage has died down naturally and has withered completely. After lifting, the bulbs should be dried off slowly in a cool, airy place and stored until planting time in the autumn.

If it is necessary to clear the beds earlier, so that summer bedding annuals can be set out, the spring bulbs can be taken up carefully after flowering and transplanted to a row in the vegetable garden to finish off their growth cycle. I don't advise this procedure if you can possibly avoid it, for transplanting isn't good for the bulbs when it is done while the plants are in full growth, no matter how gently the plants are handled.

SEANIDE HEDGE (R.B.G., Sooke)—The copper beech makes a very attractive hedge, but I don't think it would stand up very well in your location so close to the sea and so subject to salt spray.

The Sea Buckthorn, Hippophae rhamnoides, is an excellent shrub or hedge for a spot close to saltwater. This plant is also known as Russian Sandthorn, and may be so listed in your nursery catalogue. It has silvery green foliage, with orange yellow berries on the female bushes.

Atriplex hallimus and Tamarix are also resistant to salt spray.

An important event for Victoria gardeners is the annual Cadboro Bay flower show this afternoon and evening in St. George's Parish Hall, Maynard Road. This is the 17th successive year this show has been held, and it seems to get better every year, capturing something of the atmosphere of an English village flower show.

On feature I especially like in the Cadboro Bay show is the plant and gadget stall. The husbands of St. George's Guild members are in charge of this operation, selling planters and tubs, bird feeders, trugs and garden equipment of all kinds. There is also a sale of surplus perennial roots and rooted cuttings of named chrysanthemums, all going at bargain counter prices.

Doors open at 2 this afternoon and the show runs until 9 tonight. Afternoon admission, which includes tea, is 75 cents; after 5 p.m. 25 cents.

Marriage Bad for Love

"There is more poetry outside of verse than in; more religion outside of church than in; more love outside of marriage than in," Robert Frost declared last week. True, true! But you'd better be 88 years old and a poet before you start uttering heretical truths like that or the hobgoblins will get you.

More love outside marriage than in? It's hardly a new thought and certainly not one that has not been entertained by ten million husbands (and probably ten million wives) but it doesn't get much public endorsement. Until last week when it ran roughshod.

Harper's magazine ran a long piece by psychoanalyst Ernest van der Haag called Love or Marriage, which states emphatically not only that love and marriage do not go together like a horse and carriage, but that they are almost totally incompatible. In fact, the author says, marriage is often recommended as a cure for love, but it doesn't always work.

"Unlike marriage, love has only recently come to be generally accepted as something more than a frenzied state of pleasure and pain.

It is a welcome innovation—but easily ruined by marriage; which in turn has a hard time surviving confusion with love."

Marriage had a tough week all around. In far-off Hollywood-on-the-Tiber, Liz and Richard, both of them married to somebody else, were holding hands like Tristan and Isolde. (Both of them were married to somebody else, too.)

The striking part about all this is that neither the aged poet and the psychoanalyst are saying anything new. Liz and Burton are doing anything not entirely commonplace in Scarsdale. Or Wichita. But not out loud and not publicly.

We live by certain myths and one of the principal ones is that Marriage is a Good Thing. But I think every so often we should be prepared to turn these propositions upside down and examine the other side. Such as: Marriage Is a Bad Thing. Or: Marriage Should Be Avoided At All Costs. Or maybe even: Marriage Should Be Against the Law. We don't have to put these propositions into motion, but I think we should be prepared to examine them. If we are unwilling even to discuss them, isn't it because we're afraid they might be true?

Clearly, some fresh thinking on the subject is in order. Suzy Parker, the noted philosopher, has said marriage is the normal state for women but decidedly abnormal for men. Therefore, she says, women ought to marry each other.

Well, it's an idea, but I don't think it goes deep enough. My own thought is the relations between the sexes have been steadily deteriorating since women got the vote in 1920. Any fool knows women are intrinsically superior to men and the only way to keep them decently at arm's length, the only way to give the men a fair shake, is to keep the women out of parliament and away from the ballot box.

But since these bastions have crumbled, the menfolk have to retreat to other prepared positions. The first step, of course, is to abolish marriage, partly because it's unfair to men, partly because it's obsolete. The only real defence marriage has—or anyway the first one they trot out—is that marriage is thousands of years old. But then so is slavery.

Eddie Ready for Custody Fight

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Eddie Fisher will fight for two of Elizabeth Taylor's children—the two he adopted: Liza, small daughter of the late Mike Todd and the new German baby. Eddie told a close friend that he feels he has been treated very badly by Elizabeth—and he has. He nursed her. He spent a fortune in jewels on her, and oh! The time he wasted. But Richard Burton did not break up their marriage. It was over several months before. Boredom.

Joan Collins was hoping to slip her toy poodle past the eagle eyes of the quarantine folks in England. The rule for arriving dogs is "six months in quarantine." Realizing this was impossible, Joan flew to Rome and left her pooch with Marlene Dietrich. Some stars, I've been told, give their small canines a sleeping pill and somehow get them into England.

Someone suggested to Liz that she get herself a "good" public relations man to try to put her in good standing with the public. Elizabeth replied, "No one can help me, and besides I will continue to do what I want to do." ... She wants to marry Richard Burton. And she might. People who see them together in Rome tell me she can't keep her hands off him. I am sorry for her, because there is only disaster ahead.

When Shelley Winters flies and spends her own money, she always goes tourist. But she flies on days when business is quiet. As she did the day after the Oscar awards, flying to New York and using three seats to make a comfortable bed. It was a day flight, but Shelley curled up oblivious to curious glances and slept her way to New York.

Marilyn Monroe doesn't believe in runaway productions. She'll be making most of the films for her own Monroe Company in Hollywood, which is one reason she bought a house in Brentwood. It's also closer to Mexico and that photographer.

Marilyn Maxwell celebrated her first day in Critic's Choice with Bob Hope and Lucille Ball by driving herself to the Warner studio in a spanking new lavender car. "And before anyone gets ideas," says Marilyn, and by ideas she probably means did Mark Hudson buy it for her, "It was a present—from me, to me."

Ottawa Salon Closes

OTTAWA (CP)—The parliamentary beauty salon went out of business Friday after four months of precarious operation.

The salon was opened in a partitioned corner of the barber shop in the Centre Block of the Parliament Buildings at the suggestion of Judy La Marsh, Liberal MP for Niagara Falls in the last Parliament.

Friday the partitions, hair dryers and other equipment were being removed without fanfare. Members of the Commons staff said the salon had too few clients to be a going concern.

The only clients were five women MPs, six women senators and wives of members.

LONDON (Reuters)—A West German military headquarters—with 20 senior officers from the army, navy and air force—will be established in Scotland within the next three weeks, The Daily Express reports.

Expert Praises Dance Festival

By BERT BENNY

The Highland dancers had a rare day of it at the dance festival yesterday.

From nine in the morning until after six in the evening with only a short intermission around midday, they were busy with Flings, Sword Dances, Reels, Strathspeys and Seann Triubhas.

It was a wearing day for everybody but there's surely a special word of hearty commendation to Victoria pipers Gordon and David Ross, who skirled untiringly all day yesterday and Thursday.

CLOSELY CONTESTED

Adjudicator Betty Jessiman remarked that nowhere had she encountered such closely contested classes—not even in her native Scotland.

There were two different winners in the under-7 and under-9 classes, Kevin Wakeford of Edmonton taking the under-7 Fling and Cheryl Jackson of Victoria the Swords. In the under-9 Barbara Munro of Victoria won the Fling and Edith Duff of Edmonton the Swords.

CARRIED DAY

Cheryl Walters of Edmonton carried the day in both the Fling and Seann Triubhas, under 13, and the Swags went to Donna Allan of Vancouver.

Arlene Lupul of Red Deer, Alberta, was a triple winner in the under-15 division with the Swords, Seann Triubhas and Reel all to her credit. This won her the grand aggregate award and the right to appear at the honor performance tonight. Vancouver's Heather McBrayne took the Fling.

SWEET ALL THREE

Gail Bamford of Victoria swept all three divisions of the under-11 section with Margo Guest of Edmonton right behind her each time.

In the under-18 division, Angus McKenzie won all four required competitions, having already taken the Western Canada boys' Highland dancing championship (under 16) on Thursday.

Nancy Wilson of North Vancouver had three seconds and a fourth. Victoria's Margaret Brown had a second and two thirds, and Linda Nearingburg from far away Galt, Ontario, was third twice.

AGGREGATE TROPHIES

Thus the aggregate trophies to be presented at the honor performance this evening were won by Gail Bamford of Victoria (under 11), Arlene Lupul of Red Deer, Alberta (under 15) and Angus McKenzie of Victoria (under 18).

At Oak Bay Junior High School yesterday morning there were classes in modern musicals, acrobatic, tap and character.

Adjudicator Jean Simpson of Calgary expressed complete satisfaction with the standard shown and with the tap dancing in particular.

'ALL SO ADVANCED'

"It is all so advanced," she said, "I am amazed!"

A special scholarship is to go to Victoria tap dancer Francis Christianson for outstanding performance and promise.

"I certainly hope he continues," said Miss Simpson.

The evening honor performance at Victoria High School was opened by Alderman Lily Wilson representing the City of Victoria.

FROM BALLET

Presentation of awards was made to Janet Davis, Toni Adamson, Ceredwyn Richards, Wendy Walker, Sharon Kirk and Lydia Watt, all from the ballet division adjudicated during the past few days by Miss Janice Mitoff of the San Francisco Ballet.

There were two competitive classes, national groups, 15-and-under, with six entrants, and choreography with two competing.

Recalled for this honor program were the Victoria School of Theatrical Arts' modern musical group, over 15. From the same studio were Jane Boyering and Peter Kelch with their interpretive dance, Tomorrow.

BALLET DANCERS

Also presented were ballet dancers Shiron Kirk and Lydia Watt; Belinda McIntyre and Gordon Duth in an Irish Jig; the Wynne Shaw Dance Studio's delightful item, Lone Child; youthful Seattle ballet dancer Theresa Corkle, an exhibition number by the Vivian Briggs Studio and a tap item, High Society, by Marilyn Sommers and Francis Christianson.

The Dance Festival concludes today with a session at Victoria High School this morning and the grand honor performance at 8.30 p.m.

COMPETITIVE CLASS

There is one competitive class as well as performances by outstanding festival competitors, a display by the Mary Isdale School of Dancing from Vancouver, another by the San Francisco Branch of the Scottish Country Dance Society, and, finally, a third by World's Highland Dancing Champion, Miss Betty Jessiman.

Results:

Uncontested classes:
Acrobatic solo, 7-and-under: Gillian Hagan, Victoria; Modern musical solo, 7-and-under: Janet Ross, Victoria; Modern musical solo, 8-and-under: Donna Allan, Victoria; Modern musical solo, 12-and-under: Beverly Peters, Victoria; Acrobatic solo, 15-and-under: Mandy Lee, Victoria; Modern musical group, 12-and-under: Wynne Shaw Dance Studio, Victoria; Acrobatic solo, 15-and-under: Heather McBrayne, Victoria; Acrobatic solo, 18-and-under: Wynne Shaw Dance Studio, Victoria; Acrobatic solo, 18-and-under: Heather McBrayne, Victoria.

'I Told Arnold He'd Be Knifed'

VANCOUVER (CP) — A lawyer said Friday the stabbing death of a wealthy Vancouver man in a $100-a-night Mexican hotel fulfilled a prediction he made five months ago.

Wayne Arnold, 31, was found dead in the bathroom of a hotel in the border town of Tijuana Thursday night.

Lawyer David Chertkow later recalled he had warned Arnold: "You will end up dead if you go on like you are, probably knifed in some alley."

SPENT FORTUNE

Mr. Chertkow said Arnold had spent about $20,000 of a $100,000 inheritance he received last June when he turned 21. Tijuana police have charged a cab driver with Arnold's murder and are looking for Arnold's wife Cecile, 20, and his expensive car.

Ramon Flores Figueroa of Tijuana was charged with the slaying after Arnold's body was found with six stab wounds in the body and arms.

Five other persons are being held as suspects.

WAS ON HOLIDAY

Mr. Chertkow said Arnold and his wife left Vancouver 10 days ago on a holiday.

Police said the cab driver told them Arnold got into his taxi near the United States border Thursday night and said he wanted to try narcotics.

"I took him to my hotel with another Mexican fellow I only know as Chango (thirty) and we planned to cheat him out of his money by not delivering the narcotics," the suspect said.

WAS KILLED

He said they took Arnold to the bathroom where Arnold pulled out a knife and was killed in the ensuing fight.

Arnold was fined $250 here last November on a charge of giving unregistered firearms to friends.

At the time he said he "had tried to act like a rich playboy but ended up a fool."

"The money from my inheritance went to my head," he had said. "I received about $10,000 in cash and most of it is gone."

LEFT BY FATHER

The $100,000 was left to Arnold by his father, a Royal Air Force fighter pilot who was killed during the Second World War. His mother was killed in the London blitz when he was one year old.

Commenting on the cable's statement that Arnold was looking for narcotics, Mr. Chertkow said:

"He may have taken them occasionally for kicks but he wasn't an addict."

Farmer Group Opposes Meat Inspection Plans

Metropolitan Health Board's plans to bring provincial meat inspection to the area have been opposed by the South Saanich Farmers' Institute in a strongly worded letter.

"First, let us make it perfectly clear that we are not opposed to meat inspection, but we are opposed to the setting up of a scheme which will, in a few years, again be nullified," stated Victor Virgin, institute secretary.

"If a change from the present status is made then it must measure up to federal standards or a modification of same."

The health board is considering establishment of a provincial meat inspection area throughout the board's district, and favors construction of abattoirs to operate under provincial meat inspection regulations.

Mr. Virgin urged the health board to consult farmers' organizations for their views on meat inspection.

More Prizes Than Ever for King Fishermen

The 1962 King Fisherman contest is on.

The eighth edition of the popular Colonist contest starts today and continues for 5½ months, until Oct. 14.

This year there is a bigger than ever list of prizes — mostly for hidden weights — topped by an eight-day vacation in Japan for two, via Canadian Pacific Airlines.

A weekend holiday with a Vancouver Island Helicopters whirlybird at your beck and call, a Thorne's aluminum camp stool and an Elizabeth Arden fitted cosmetic case are other top prizes.

There will be a big array of monthly hidden-weight prizes, including weekend holiday trips, fishing trips and a wide selection of outdoors equipment.

For the biggest fish there will be King Fisherman Prince Crests each month for the 25 heaviest coho, tye and spring salmon and the 15 heaviest river trout, lake trout and smallmouth bass.

Special centennial bars, marking the centennial celebrations of both Victoria and Canada, will be awarded for the biggest fish in each of the six categories each month.

Heaviest tye salmon caught by a Colonist subscriber in the contest will win a moving picture camera from Colwood Pharmacy.

Heaviest spring salmon will win a Youngstown food waste disposer from W. R. Menzies; heaviest coho salmon will win a Viking outboard motor from T. Eaton Co.; heaviest lake trout will win a two-man inflatable rubber boat from Jeune Bros.; heaviest river trout will win a family camping tent from Jeune Bros.; heaviest bass will win the $100 Imperial Esso prize.

Heaviest fish in each of the six categories win handsome King Fisherman trophies, specially designed for the contest.

First person to win all six Prince Crests will win the Compiest Angler Trophy, which is truly symbolic of the King Fisherman of Vancouver Island.

In fact, the Compiest Angler Trophy could be called a world championship. Everyone who fishes on Vancouver Island may get in on the fun, whether or not they subscribe to the Colonist, but they have to be Colonist subscribers to win the big merchandise prizes.

Nearly 200 weigh-in stations in all parts of Vancouver Island are prepared to weigh entries in the King Fisherman contest, and anglers will have no trouble locating one close to their fishing grounds.

Salmon must weigh five pounds or more and trout and bass must weigh one pound or more. Each fish entered means another chance on hidden-weight prizes.

Water Appeal Circulated In Park Area

Residents of the John Dean Park area of North Saanich are circulating a petition asking Sidney to extend its water district to include that area which is now without a domestic water supply.

About 70 persons signed the petition during a special meeting last night.

A spokesman for the group said the petition will be sent to Lieutenant Governor Pearkes if about 70 per cent of the 200 to 250 persons in the area who now get their water from wells give their support.

"We will drop the issue if we only get 50 per cent," he said.

Cancellation of the 11 p.m. summer-schedule sailing of B.C. government ferries from Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen dismayed city boosters yesterday.

The late run, which ferry officials said was sparsely patronized last year, was dropped because of the problem of getting the two ships on the run back to their home ports, and because of an hourly service starting Tuesday.

But A. E. Walters, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said the decision was unfortunate, in view of the tremendous tourist traffic between the Island and the mainland this summer.

He said he felt last year's figures should not be used to assess the expected volume of passengers on the 11 p.m. run this year because of the large number of events being staged in Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle.

This would not only increase the volume of tourist traffic, but also spur commuter travel by local residents to take in Vancouver shows and Vancouverites making one-day visits here for centennial events.

He said he understood the scheduling problem facing ferry officials in arranging the runs to make sure ships finish the day in their home ports.

Unusual Conditions

But, he said, this could be rearranged to provide a late sailing.

Mr. Walters said the unusual conditions throughout the area, such as Victoria's centennial, the Seattle world's fair and Vancouver's summer theatre schedule, would prove the late sailing economical "at least for this year—it could be dropped next year if it slumps again."

An official of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau agreed cancellation of the late run was "unfortunate."

"The midnight sailing to Nanaimo by Black Ball was always very popular," he said.

Meanwhile, ferry officials pressed the newly completed

City of Vancouver into service last night after a week of peak traffic on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen run.

The ship, which had gone into service the day after she was delivered to the toll authority in order to permit officials to drydock the City of Victoria, plagued by engine vibration, boosted to three the number of vessels on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen run.

City of Vancouver had returned to drydock for final construction touches left undone when she was called on to replace the City of Victoria.

But overbooked sailings throughout the week forced officials to rush the drydock work in order to put the vessel back in service.

Summertime Peak

They said Easter weekend passenger volume reached a "summertime peak" with the overload extending well into the week.

Monday night two extra sailings had to be scheduled to handle the traffic.

Sailing schedules will be "eccentric" until the hourly summer schedule starts Tuesday, the spokesmen said.

With the City of Vancouver reinforcing the Mv. Tsawwassen and City of Victoria, sailings will be boosted by four a day, some on an hourly schedule.

Commenting on the cancellation of the 11 p.m. sailing, one spokesman said:

"We were surprised to find that there were times when more people were using the 5 a.m. sailing than were using the 11 p.m. run. Besides posing a problem of getting the ships back to their home ports, it has proven uneconomical."

He said that, despite pressures to schedule a late run, the business "never materialized."

He pointed out that, in certain conditions, the service would put on late extra runs to handle overflow crowds.

"We put on an 11 p.m. and a 1 a.m. run the other night, but we don't like to advertise this, since it tends to make people careless of schedules."

Daily sailings will be boosted to 16 when a fourth ship, the Mv. Sidney, joins the run Tuesday.

Firemen Douse Grass Blaze

Grass fire started by fallen electrical wires was extinguished by Saanich firemen at 12:14 p.m. yesterday, at the home of Mrs. Cherna Lett, 3170 Evergreen Place.

Saanich firemen quelled wind-fanned chimney fires at 785 Gladstone and 4229 Wilkins, too.

Open House On Ship Today

Open house will be held in the RCN Pacific Command Frigate Antigonish from 1:30 p.m. to 4:15 p.m. today and Sunday at the CPR dock, foot of Omeo Street. Visitors are requested not to take cameras aboard.

The surveys also show that the biggest fight in this area will be the contest between Mr. Chatterton and Liberal David Gross.

On City Boulevards

Flowering Trees Hit Spring Bloom Peak

Six varieties of flowering trees in city boulevards have reached their peaks for spring, parks administrator Herbert Warren said yesterday.

"Most striking is the Kanzan cherry tree with large, double pink blossoms which grows along Moss Street, lower Vancouver Street, Pendragan, Fairfield west from Ross Bay Cemetery, Gladstone, and Michigan Street west of Ogego," he said.

DOUBLE BLOOM

A double bloom variety of white cherry grows along Oxford and Milne, and Ulkon cherry trees are blooming along Oliphant Street.

"Ulkon is a strangely beautiful white flower with a greenish cast which turns pink as it ages," Mr. Warren added.

OPEN MISTAKEN

"Elaeagnus, a beautiful single pink flowering tree is planted along Esplanade and Wellington Streets, north from Dallas Road. It is often mistaken for Kamayan."

"But one of the most beautiful is the double white flowering cherry called Shirofugen, meaning 'white goddess' in Japanese."

"Shirofugen hangs long clusters of blooms which turn to pink in time. It can be seen to advantage in Pioneer Square, and along Hicks and Morrison Streets."

Mr. Warren said a red flowering crabapple grows along Chapman Street and 50-year-old horse chestnut trees line Cook Street for 1½ miles between Dallas and Pandora.

Horse chestnut trees along Rupert Street are even older — 75 years.

Felled by Fierce Winds

Hydro Authority Rift

Union Denies Force

Officials of the B.C. Electric office workers' union yesterday defended their action in applying for certification to represent all office workers of the B.C. Hydro Authority.

The application created a rift between the 1,300-member Office Employees International Union, Local 378, and the 380-member B.C. Power Commission Employees Association, which wants to retain its autonomy.

WIDE OF MOST

The two white-collar groups were brought together when the B.C. Electric and the B.C. Power Commission were merged March 30.

James Twells, president of the association, said Thursday it was the wish of the majority of his group not to be unionized.

W. Ralph Freethy of Victoria, an OEIC board member representing Vancouver Island, said yesterday: "We certainly haven't tried to railroad these people. The only thing we did was apply for certification."

HALTED TEMPORARILY

"We won't stand for a differential in wages (which now exists under separate contracts)," said Mr. Freethy.

Volunteer union members canvassed the 30 to 40 association members to give them information kits and to answer questions but "there was no force," said the union official. The canvass has been temporarily halted.

He said the 55 to 60 cents union dues which Mr. Twells claimed goes "over the border" from each member every month "doesn't even cover the wages the international pays their two representatives in Vancouver."

"The association is not very well organized. It has no full-time paid officials to represent them. It doesn't have regular meetings and its meetings are poorly attended," said Mr. Freethy.

OVER 80 PER CENT

"We represent over 80 per cent of the office employees of the authority as well as the office and technical employees of the Peace River Power project and International Power and Engineering Consultants Ltd. of Vancouver."

"Our only interest is to protect their welfare."

Liberals Running Third Behind Unnamed Socred

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

THE WAY AHEAD: Early surveys made for the Conservatives show that Equilm-Saanich's George Chatterton and Victoria's Bert McPhillips are leading the pack at this stage of the campaign.

Interesting point of the survey is that Social Credit is shown running second to the Conservatives in Victoria with Liberal candidate Thomas Foster ahead only a point or two ahead of the last place New Democratic Party. The Socreds haven't even named a candidate yet.

The surveys also show that the biggest fight in this area will be the contest between Mr. Chatterton and Liberal David Gross.

BETTER LATE THAN ...

Those Coats-Hallmark people aren't just content to put out cards for all occasions — they have a historical department to check on all the reasons why.

Their latest problem has been to determine why the Easter bunny lays eggs. Curator Mrs. Lila MacPherson came up with this explanation ...

Scena Bontra, the old German goddess of spring, had a large pet bird. But her job was to tell the kiddies when spring came and she felt a bird couldn't do the job as well as a rabbit. So she changed the bird into a rabbit and sent him on his way.

But the rabbit never forgot he was once a bird so he continues to make a nest and lays eggs each year.

Well, it's a good story, anyway.

KEEN IN PASSING: Woman

waiting for a bus opposite the Colonist office yesterday smiled sympathetically as two small boys struggled against the wind.

One of the lads was doubly handicapped. He was on crutches. The youngsters stopped to look at some lawn mowers then the one on crutches suddenly straightened up and handed them to his chum — who went hobbling off down the street.

CAMPAIGN TRAIL: Liberal officials say Opposition leader Lester Pearson is waiting to see where Prime Minister John Diefenbaker decides to hold his big campaign rallies so that he can go to the same places a few days later.

A case, it would seem, of Mr. Pearson once again in the position of "Following John!"

HISTORICAL NOTE: When

James E. Nesbitt responded to the toast to Canada at the St. George's Day dinner of the Royal Society of St. George, he suitably praised the great Englishmen who had made their contributions to Victoria and B.C. in the early days.

These included Thomas Harris, first mayor of Victoria, and Edward Gawler Prior, who was both premier and lieutenant-governor.

But, said Mr. Nesbitt, Joseph

William Trutch, first lieutenant-governor of B.C., was the wisest Englishman of them all because he appointed as first premier an Irishman, John Foster McCreight.

Mr. Nesbitt, who hasn't a drop of English blood in him, is a grandson of Samuel Nesbitt, an Irishman who arrived here in the gold miners' ship Commodore in the hectic summer of 1858 and built a mansion he called "Erin Hall" but which the gentry from England called "Cracker Castle" because it was built from the proceeds of Mr. Nesbitt's cracker bakery!

REVERSED CHARGES!

Government travel bureau people plead not guilty for the absence of suitable B.C. literature at the Canada exhibit at Seattle's world fair.

A shipment of 500 copies of the glossy production "Alluring British Columbia" was sent to the federal government booth in early March — at Ottawa's request — but never arrived.

A further 1,000 copies were hurriedly dispatched this week — before our item appeared.

Okanagan Honeymoon For Mr. and Mrs. Nadin

St. Mary's Anglican Church, Fullford Harbor, decorated with spring flowers, was scene of a recent wedding, when Lois Gwendoline Lee, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lee, well known residents of Salt Spring Island, was united in marriage with Peter Albert Nadin, Ganges, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Nadin of Canim Lake, B.C.

Archdeacon G. H. Holmes officiated.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white lace over tulle. Sequins and pearls trimmed the sweetheart neckline and lily-point sleeves. Her chapel veil rested from a coronet of pearls and sequins and she carried a bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Barry Crooks, Seafair Island, was gown in a pink nylon ballerina-length dress and bridesmaid Miss Ronda Lee.

sister of the bride, in yellow, was gay with daffodils and nylon. Their flower bandeaux and bouquets were of toning carnations.

Junior bridesmaid Miss Elizabeth Lee, another sister of the bride, wore a full-skirted dress of blue nylon over floral organza. Her bouquet was of pink carnations. Flower girl, little Miss Anna Mollet, cousin of the bride, wore pink nylon and coral organza and carried a basket of spring flowers.

Robin Nadin was best man. Ushers were Patrick Lee and Wayne Bradley. During signing of the register the congregation sang the hymn, "O Perfect Love," with Miss Susan Fellows at the organ.

Following the ceremony a reception for 250 guests was held at Fullford Hall, which Bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, made and decorated by the bride's mother, Capt. L. J. Mollet proposed the toast.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to Okanagan, the bride donned a beige ensemble with white accessories. Her corsage of red roses had formed the centre of the bridal bouquet. On return the newlyweds will live at Ganges.

Guests from Victoria were Mr. and Mrs. K. Loundes, J. H. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Jones, Mr. and Mrs. S. Jones Sr., Mrs. Enid Wakelin and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wakelin and family.

Farewell Party At Erskine

A farewell social was held last week at Erskine Church for Rev. R. MacMillan and Mrs. MacMillan, who are leaving for Duncan where Mr. MacMillan has accepted a new appointment. Dr. A. Rattay, moderator of the church, gave the opening prayer. Mrs. MacMillan was presented with a corsage by her granddaughter, Diane May, and an electric coffee percolator. Mr. MacMillan received a book, "The Bible Companion." Words of appreciation were said by T. Baird and Dr. J. L. W. McLean. St. Andrews Presbyterian Church Soloists were Mrs. E. MacMillan, Mrs. M. Sinclair and Mrs. R. MacMillan. Friends from other churches attended the social. Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Guild. Mr. MacMillan has been minister of Erskine Church for the past two years.

WHAT GOES ON UP IN THE VILLAGE OF NEWBY EAST

—one of the remote hamlets among the beautiful fells of Cumberland, and not so far from the Scottish Border? Something strange, yet after a couple of days there I'm as far from the truth as ever. In this Year of Grace, 1962, it seems strange to write about a village of superstition and fear. "I do not mind telling you," he said, "but I am a little bit frightened about what might happen in this village. The people are divided into several camps." ## Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Is it possible for a person to go several days without getting any sleep at all?

Almost every morning my husband will stumble out of bed and say, "I didn't close my eyes last night. I got absolutely no sleep."

I don't see how this is possible, but he gets very annoyed when I challenge him. I had an aunt who had real insomnia. But this was quite a different thing. She used to walk around all night and never get into bed. She read everything she could get her hands on, baked pies and cakes, cleaned closets and did petit point. We know she didn't sleep because she accomplished so much at night.

My husband tosses and turns but he never gets out of bed. Is it possible that he sleeps for a few hours, and doesn't realize it? Thank for any information you can give me.—C.W.

Dear C.W.: Not only is it possible that your husband is getting a few hours sleep every night but it's likely. Even bonafide insomniacs get some shut-eye, although often they don't remember and would swear on the family Bible they were up all night.

It serves no purpose to try to persuade such individuals that they slept. People who talk about their sleeplessness are in the same category with those who like to talk about their operations. They enjoy it.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married for five years. His first wife died when their son was three months old.

We now have a boy and a girl of our own and are very happy. All three children look like my husband. We have never told the oldest child that I am not his natural mother. Frankly I see no reason to tell him now or ever. Why take the chance of upsetting him emotionally? Also, if his brother and sister knew, perhaps they would feel differently about him.

My husband thinks the boy should be told. I say what people don't know won't hurt them. Do you agree? —NO BOAT ROCKER.

Dear N.B.R.: Your little motto is filled with fish hooks and booby traps. What people don't know often hurts them—and badly.

A child whose natural mother has died should be told his father has remarried. He should be told as soon as he can understand what words mean.

Parents who try to conceal information of this sort to their children are unjust. All too frequently the child learns from an outside source when he is half grown. When this happens the shock can be a devastating one.

Dear Ann Landers: Our niece attends a college which is a short distance from where we live. We have invited Debbie to spend some weekends with us because most college kids appreciate a break from dorm life. We've tried to make her feel at home but I'm afraid we overdid it.

Debbie was here for a weekend last month. The telephone bill arrived yesterday. It showed two long-distance calls which amounted to $13.30. No one in our family made these calls. They were placed on the days that Debbie was here.

My husband says the amount won't break us and that we should not embarrass her by bringing it up. I am annoyed and feel that she should be handed the bill and given a chance to make it right. What is your opinion?—BURNED.

Dear Burned: More is involved here than $13.30. If Debbie made these calls she displayed a shocking lack of integrity. By all means discuss it with her. If she made the calls she should pay for them.

The Victoria District of the King's Daughters and Sons will hold a lilac tea at the lovely Mount Tolmie home of Mrs. W. W. McGill, 3441 Mayfair Drive, on Saturday, May 12, from 2:30 to 5 p.m. There will also be a home cooking stall run by the Ready to Help circle. Good Will, Fellowship, Hawthorne and Speedwell circles will all assist. Mrs. J. L. W. McLean and Miss Kathleen Agnew will pour tea. Those attending the tea will be driven from the bus to the McGill home. Pictured, from left to right, Mrs. F. W. Ackerman, president of the King's daughters, Mrs. McGill and Mrs. A. R. Phelps, vice-president.

Mrs. Ross Kidd Guest Speaker

Mrs. Ross Kidd, who is associated with Dr. Hugh Keenleyside at the B.C. Power and Hydro Authority, was guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mrs. Phyllis Graveley, executive director, TWCA, introduced Mrs. Kidd, giving a brief outline of her academic career and subsequent professional work with the British Library in New York, the National Research Board, Ottawa, and the United Nations, where she was very active in the Technical Assistance Organization.

Miss Rose Fanstone thanked Mrs. Kidd on behalf of the club.

I find that marking new seamless stockings with a colored thread on each crease of the top hem will keep stockings from twisting if you keep this thread on a straight line when pulling them on.

For just a few minutes time spent when the stockings are new we are free of baggy knees and that corkscrew feeling on the legs, from stockings pulled on and fastened off-centre. We are always glad to receive such helpful tips that we can pass along to our readers. A big "thank you" to Mrs. E. S. and to Mrs. M. G. who tells us that since she adopted the habit of slipping on a pair of cotton gloves whenever she puts on her nylons she has been amazed how few snags she gets. She hadn't realized how many were caused just from her nails and rings.

Wedding Reception At Holyrood House

The recent wedding of Miss Leona Williamson and Mr. David McConnell took place in an evening ceremony in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Williamson formerly of Edmonton and the groom the son of Mrs. McConnell of Victoria and the late Mr. James McConnell.

Miss Williamson entered the church, decorated with white heather and pink and white carnations, in an oyster brocade sheath jacket dress featuring a stand-up collar and three-quarter-length sleeves. She wore a pearl necklace and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and white lilies. Maid of honor, Miss Molly Polly Williamson, the bride's sister, wore an ice-blue sheath similar to the bride's. Her headpiece was of blue and she carried pink roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Alex Williamson. Organist Mrs. R. Jones played "I'll Walk Beside You" which was sung by Mr. J. Bell.

Groomsman was Mr. Jack McConnell, brother of the groom. Mr. B. Bryan and Mr. R. Heald ushered guests to their places.

A dinner reception in Holyrood House followed. The bride's table was decorated with roses and those of the guests with carnations. Baskets of gladiolus were placed around the room. The toast to the bride-was given by her uncle, Mr. Wm. Cocker. Mrs. McConnell wore an off-white wool sheath and brown fur jacket and snakeskin accessories as she left on a honeymoon to Seattle and Harrison Hot Springs. The couple will make their home at 2514 Graham Street.

Service Groups Plan Marches With Navy, Cadets Attending

Two church parades will be held by service groups at Greater Victoria churches Sunday.

Protestant members of the ship's company of HMCS Malahat, will form up by 10:45 a.m. at the Cadboro Bay shopping centre and march to the Church of St. George the Martyr, where Rev. William Hills will conduct the service.

Roman Catholics will attend the service at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, conducted by Rev. Father Michael McNamara.

Following the service at St. George's, the ship's company will stage a march past at which Rear-Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, will take the salute.

Officers, cadets and cadettes of the 89th (Kinsmen) Squadron, Royal Canadian Air Cadets, will attend the 11 a.m. service at St. John's Anglican Church, where Canon George Biddle will preach.

The squadron, under command of Sqdn. Ldr. E. A. McGowan, will parade to the church from their headquarters at Yates and Quadra.

Royal Jubilee Hospital nurses' baccalaureate service will be held Sunday at 11 a.m. at First United Church, when Rev. A. I. Higgins will preach.

Sunday will be Stewardship Sunday at Metropolitan United Church. During the day members of the congregation will be called on by members of the board in the annual visitation. Both morning and evening services, at which Dr. F. E. H. James will preach, will be in the Stewardship theme.

Victoria Seventh-Day Adventist Church will be host today to youth of the denomination from six Adventist churches on Vancouver Island. There will be services at 9:30 and 11 a.m., under Pastor and Mrs. W. E. Kuester of Mission and Pastor Brock Wells of Oshawa, Ont. In the afternoon there will be a musical program and a career clinic.

Young people of Knox Presbyterian Church will sponsor the reformation film Martin Luther Monday at 8 p.m. at the church, 2884 Richmond. Proceeds will be used for the young people's missionary project and to aid in church construction.

An Ominous Word

By JULES LOH

NEW YORK (AP)—The word "excommunication" has an ominous ring.

To some, it may conjure up pictures of purple-robed ecclesiastics pointing accusing fingers at a cowering sinner and banishing him to eternal perdition—a sort of verbal exorcism of a public sinner, in cinematic.

Because the word is back in the news, in connection with the New Orleans dispute over desegregation of Roman Catholic schools, it's worth examining in some detail.

The Roman Catholic Church, like any other organization, has certain rules for its members. Should a member deliberately and openly violate a rule, he forfeits some of the benefits of membership—provided he is aware of both the rule and the penalty.

That, broadly, is what excommunication is.

It is the most severe form of church censure, used only as a last resort after persuasion has failed.

Acts which carry the penalty are defined in canon law. They range from forcing a person to become a priest or nun to selling indulgences and marrying before a non-Catholic minister. Key provisions, however, are that the offender knows that what he is about to do would result in excommunication but does it deliberately anyway.

As one authority put it, excommunication is medicinal rather than punitive. Its aim is to protect the church and correct the offender; punishment is only a secondary purpose.

Nor is it intended to sever a person from God, only from the Church. A person under the usual form of excommunication doesn't even lose membership in the Church. He may attend all its services but may not take an active part in some of them, including the mass, and may not receive any of the sacraments except penance.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

The balance of war and peace is precarious. U. Thant, Acting Secretary-General of the United Nations, warns that the risk of "unintended war" is very grave, that the United States and Russia are in a state of "hair-trigger missile readiness," and the strongest action is necessary to prevent the world slipping down into nuclear war. No sane man would contradict him.

Yet there are signs of hope. Sometimes these come in surprising ways. The Peace Corps, once considered a starry-eyed dream of youth, has emerged as an astonishingly practical venture. About 8,000 corporamen are engaged in volunteer projects in Ghana, Nigeria, Sierra Leone, Tanganyika, Malaya, the Philippines, Thailand, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, St. Lucia, India, and Pakistan.

It is estimated that by the fall of 1963 10,000 young people will be working in 30 countries. They are engaged in various projects such as language instruction, horticulture, home economics, conservation and livestock. So magnificent is their performance even U.S. Senator Barry Goldwater exclaimed enthusiastically: "As a businessman . . . I'll back it all the way."

Another practical peace venture is the provision of the children of Madras with lunches by courtesy of United States food shipments. Would it not be a good project to provide the school-children of the world with a lunch every day?

At Rome this year lawyers and jurists from 29 nations drafted "a working paper" for a world conference next year on such subjects as armaments control, space law, trade, investment, and many other matters. There have been three other continental conferences at San Jose, Costa Rica, Tokyo, and Lagos, Nigeria. Do not despair! Someday there will be universal law.

With the growth of the political potency of new nations, we have to reckon with a new international situation. Doubtless their naivete in international affairs is a danger. This is true of all democratic processes. Nevertheless we ought to listen to such an ingenious plan as that recently drafted at Geneva by the eight uncommitted countries for an international commission of "neutral" scientists to provide detection and observation of nuclear testing.

The world disarmament program proposed to the 17-nation disarmament conference by the United States of a three stage process concluding with an unchallengeably strong United Nations peace force is undoubtedly the most realistic and desirable proposal for peace ever advanced by a great nation.

The control of the arms of the world by the conscience and peoples of the world is essential for world peace.

The groundswell of the peace movement throughout the world grows in power. There are the various peace movements of Britain. There

Judges View 70 Films For Centennial Festival

More than 70 movies were previewed by a committee of 12 people to choose the final 40 to be shown during the centennial film festival in Beacon Hill Park this summer. Countries represented in the final selection are Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Sweden, Canada, Yugoslavia and Italy. The film festival will begin July 3 at the Cameron Bowl in Beacon Hill Park and will continue intermittently through August. The films chosen include movies which have won awards at similar festivals in Cannes, Edinburgh, San Francisco and Hollywood.

At University School

Archbishop To Dedicate New Chapel

Archbishop Harold Sexton will dedicate the new chapel at University School at 3 p.m., May 20.

Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes will unveil a commemorative plaque during the ceremonies which will begin with an academic procession.

All of the 250 boys who undertook to raise $250,000 for the chapel and contributed most of the labor to the year-long project will attend the dedication service.

STAFF MEMBERS
Also in attendance will be staff members and their wives, members of the board of governors, provincial and civic officials, and other visiting dignitaries.

On the two Sundays immediately following the dedication, special thanksgiving services will be held with parents and contributors to the building fund invited to attend.

VERY PLEASANT
Headmaster J. J. Timmins said: "It would be very pleasant if every donor could be invited to the dedication itself, but we would require an enormous hall rather than a chapel to accommodate them all."

The building fund, started March 16, 1961, reached its goal of $250,000 April 18, just over a year later.

The money was raised by the boys in small amounts from parents and friends. The book of donors which will be kept in the chapel as a permanent record has over 850 names.

The fund is being kept open so that another $5,000 can be raised to complete the interior furnishings.

Two navy men were treated for cuts and abrasions last night after their small car crashed into a power pole at Craigflower and Skinsaw. The men were identified as

World Park Chiefs To Hear Warren

City parks administrator Herbert Warren has been picked to speak before delegates to the world's largest conference of parks administrators in London, England, May 25.

Mr. Warren will speak on international co-operation among professional parks administrators. The conference, held once every five years by the Park Administrators of Great Britain, will be held May 14 to June 3. It attracts delegates from many countries of the world.

10-WEEK TOUR
Speaking at the convention will be a highlight of a 10-week tour of England and Europe, including a visit to the Chelsea flower show and tours through Belgium, Holland, Denmark and France.

"Everywhere I go I'll be inspecting the use of ornamental trees for street boulevards and downtown pedestrian malls as well as parks and nurseries and outstanding gardens," he said.

BASKET IDEAS
"I also hope to bring back some ideas for our own flower baskets after seeing the ones in continental cities."

Mr. Warren has accumulated vacation time over a number of years, making the extended trip possible. Mrs. Warren will accompany him.

Playground Urged At Track

Colwood and District Chamber of Commerce, negotiating for a lease on the 140-acre Colwood race track, should build a park-playground on the property if negotiations are successful, chamber president A. J. Cottyn told a general meeting.

Beside Mr. Cottyn, officers elected at the meeting were: Kenneth Lowie, vice-president, and C. B. Burgess, secretary-manager.

Radio Stolen

An $80 transistor radio was stolen from a showroom at Fort and Blanshard yesterday afternoon. A Terry of Goodrich Rubber Co. reported the theft to city police.

National delegates are Mrs. Lefley, Mrs. Hull and Mrs. Im Crawford of Vancouver.

Courtenay Convention

'Daughters' Urge Distinctive Flag

COURTENAY — A Vancouver resolution urging a distinctive national flag for Canada was approved by Canadian Daughters here at their provincial convention.

"But another resolution opposing any national flag bearing the Union Jack was rejected."

WEIR VERSION

The league also urged that the Weir version of O Canada be adopted officially as the national anthem.

In other resolutions, the league asked for pensions for men at 65 without means tests and for self-supporting women at 60 with means tests. Delegates demanded an end to the practice of increasing pensioners' rents every time the old-age pension goes up.

METRIC SYSTEM

Removal of sales tax from books and MHA loans for housing renovation were asked along with establishment of a metric system for weights and measures.

Rejected was a resolution calling for entry into Canada of stateless persons who fulfill all but passport requirements and changes in immigration laws to permit more Commonwealth immigrants without regard to color, and their training for Canadian industry.

NEW OFFICERS

New officers installed by national president Mrs. R. E. Woodman and marshal Mrs. E. R. Lefley of Courtenay were: Mrs. B. F. McCloskey of Vancouver, president; Mrs. L. H. Guim of Vancouver, past junior president; Mrs. J. E. Hull of Kamloops and Mrs. E. Granville of Vancouver, vice-presidents; Mrs. J. A. Walker of Vancouver, secretary; Mrs. M. Forrest of Cranbrook, treasurer; Mrs. B. Sumner of Courtenay, chaplain; Mrs. W. H. Piercy of New Westminster, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Margery Pollard of Victoria, sectioned; Mrs. J. H. Lockhart of Vancouver, historian; Mrs. Maude McKenzie of Courtenay, pianist; and Mrs. B. R. Bloomfield of Vancouver, press secretary.

Ridge-Runners Concern For Cowichan Hunters

DUNCAN — Cowichan Fish and Game Association officials expressed concern yesterday that new ridge-runner vehicles may be used for unauthorized hunting in the MacMillan-Fowell River firm's Shawigan division, which is under the will step up its organized patrols.

The small, light motor vehicles already are outlawed in several of the United States, said association spokesman Arnie Williams, so the group

Jobless Total Drops To New District Low

Greater Victoria's job picture has brightened, with the number of registered job seekers more than 1,800 below the April, 1961, figure, a National Employment Service spokesman reported yesterday. Job opportunities for men have reduced the number seeking work to almost 1,200 less than last April and a lower figure than any recorded during the peak summer employment period last year.

Job opportunities for women are improving and the number of applications for work has dropped 400 from last April's total.

Receivership Right

VANCOUVER (CP)—A judge of the British Columbia Court of Appeal said in a judgment handed down Friday a "strong prima facie case" has been made out in an action to have expropriation of the British Columbia Electric Company declared unlawful.

Mr. Justice C. W. Tysoe made the comment in a dissent from a majority judgment of the court quashing a receivership order designed to isolate the assets of the company during the suit.

He said the case made out for unconstitutionality of the provincial takeover legislation fully justified the receivership.

The receivership order was issued by Mr. Justice H. W. Melness of the B.C. Supreme court when legislation was introduced in the B.C. legislature to merge the assets of the company with those of the B.C. Power Commission in a new provincial authority.

Another bill introduced at the same time sought to prevent the B.C. Electric takeover examined by the courts to determine whether compensation paid was adequate.

Mr. Justice Tysoe said the provisions of the expropriating statute and the two bills, both later enacted, are "unprecedented."

"They violate our constitutional conventions and the rule of law," he said.

"It is not surprising that

Coin-Cleaned Clothes 'Dangerous'

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — J. H. Brown of the provincial health department said Thursday clothes cleaned in coin-operated washers could give off dangerous gas.

Dr. Brown said the cleaning solvent used in many coin laundries was a chemical relative of carbon tetrachloride. He said carbon tetrachloride in the presence of heat and moisture could turn into "one of the most dangerous gases in the world."

He said all clothes cleaned in coin washers should be thoroughly aired before being transported by car or worn.

'Private Eye' Guilty Of Divorce Perjury

OTTAWA (CP) — Charles Jacques Leduc, 53, and Anna Charron, 53-year-old Montreal private detective, was found guilty Friday of giving perjured evidence before a Senate subcommittee divorce hearing here.

It was the first time a person had ever been tried for perjury in connection with a Senate divorce hearing.

A 12-man county court jury took only 10 minutes to reach a verdict.

Charron was remanded in custody to next Wednesday for sentence. He faces a maximum penalty of 14 years imprisonment.

The Crown accused Charron and Andre Lecompte, 22, of Montreal, of giving false testimony by stating they had found

5 1/4% REVENUE BONDS UNCONDITIONALLY GUARANTEED BY THE PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

Immensely rich in natural resources and energy reserves, British Columbia looks forward to a future of unlimited industrial development. In the past 15 years alone, the gross value of our manufacturing production has increased by six times and now adds more than $2 billion to the economy every year. To increase this production even further, to provide more jobs and opportunities for the people of the province, and to enable our economy to compete successfully in the markets of the world, your B.C. Hydro and Power Authority has embarked on the largest and most vital power development programme in British Columbia's history. The cornerstone of this programme is a water power potential of 40 million horsepower — equal to the entire installed generating capacity of highly industrialized Great Britain.

The utilization of this tremendous resource and the dynamic new industry it will attract, make these 5 1/4% Revenue Bonds an exceptionally good investment.

DENOMINATIONS: $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000.

Running gauntlet of furious Teamsters, truck is splattered by rocks and bombs.

North of Mill Bay Truck-Car Collision Kills Four

A Duncan businessman and his wife were among four persons killed in a collision between their car and a logging truck on the Island Highway four miles north of Mill Bay late yesterday.

Dead are: Vernon James Harford, 56, and his wife Alyce, in her 50s, of Vista Road, Duncan; and two other persons riding in the death car whom police were unable to identify at press time last night.

Driver of the logging truck, Philip Burnett, 2559 Cranmore Road, Victoria, was taken to King's Daughters' Hospital with a broken leg and a broken arm. His condition was "satisfactory."

Police said the logging truck was southbound when it apparently went out of control, sideswiping a small car driven by Mrs. Velma Almond, 3341 Maplewood, Victoria.

The careening truck then smashed head-on into the northbound Harford car. Mrs. Almond's car, which received only minor damage, was also travelling north. Residents of homes nearby said the impact of the crash was like an explosion.

The accident happened at 5:15 p.m. on a straight stretch of highway.

There were apparently no witnesses to the accident except Mrs. Almond. Police said she was in a state of shock and unable to answer questions immediately. She later was reported to be at the home of her parents in South Wellington.

Don Adamson of Courtenay arrived on the scene only seconds after the crash. He ran to the car and found all four occupants were dead.

David Andrist, who lives 100 yards from the crash scene near Hutchinson Road, said a dozen cars had stopped by the time he reached the death car. A nurse tried to give first aid to the victims. Would-be rescuers used a shovel to remove earth around the door of the tilted car.

They smashed the windshield of the truck to remove the injured driver. He was employed at the B.C. Forest Products Cayuse Camp on Cowichan Lake and was returning to his Victoria home for the weekend.

Mrs. and Mrs. Harford, residents of Duncan since 1948.

By drawing capital from these sources, Mr. Oliver explained, the NDP would "build up a capital fund without taxation."

He said Canada as a whole had a responsibility in the Atlantic area's economy.

Mr. Oliver said at a press conference such a Crown corporation, whose funds would be set aside specifically for capital works projects in the region, would also be financed by investment from the general public and by federal government capital.

Howling Strikers Ambush Trucks With Bombs, Bats

MONTREAL (CP)—A four-lane boulevard turned into a furious battleground Friday as strikers threw fire bombs and everything else they could get their hands on to prevent two transports from leaving a trucking depot.

Police retaliated with tear gas bombs and fired more than 20 warning shots into the air as they extricated the frantic crews from the trucks, one of them a fire.

Two of 200 striking Teamsters, Union (Ind.) members were injured, one of them when he tried to jump on the running board of one of the trucks.

The fighting broke out on the north end of Côte de Lévesque Road when the two trucks tried to leave the strikebound Smith Transport Company depot.

The strikers surged across the boulevard the instant the first truck came through the depot gate. They hurled the bombs, burning torches, stones, bricks, glass, pieces of wood and anything else they could get their hands on in a furious effort to stop the first truck and another one that emerged right behind it.

The first truck burst into flames and slid across the road. The second came to a dead stop right behind it.

Police, trying to extricate the two frantic drivers and their helpers, pumped tear gas shells into the howling, roaring mob and fired more than 20 warning shots into the air.

Later, Rod Hayes, president of Local 105 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Ind.), sent a telegram to Quebec Attorney-General Georges Lapalme protesting the role played by Quebec Provincial Police during the outbreak.

He charged the QPP had been used as "strikebreakers" and protested their "using guns to shoot at strikers."

The Smith attempt followed a successful bid by two trucks from the adjacent Kingsway depot earlier in the day to get out of the area—blockaded by the Teamsters for the last three days—and reach warehouses on the waterfront.

The first Smith truck rumbled out behind two police cars shortly after 2 p.m. and headed west into the hail of bombs, rocks and debris. In a split second, it was aflame.

An eye-witness said the driver's helper jumped out the minute the truck stopped, took one look at the mob surging toward him, and jumped right back into the flaming cab.

Three police cars immediately swerved into position between the burning truck and the mob. More policemen rushed up and charged into the strikers.

Ironically, it took police a few minutes to get the truck cab doors open because the outside handles had been removed so strikers could not get at the drivers.

Police said no arrests were made.

BETTY JEAN HAGEN
... short-changed

Rouble Pinchers! Snorts Violinist

TORONTO (CP)—Violinist Betty Jean Hagen of Toronto, back from the Tchaikovsky competitions in Moscow, says she and other Western musicians were short-changed in their prize money.

Miss Hagen said that when she left Moscow officials refused to give her a portion of her prize money.

"We were told in advance that we could not take roubles out of the country," she said, "and the prize money was in roubles. But if we wished we could ask that a quarter of the prize money be paid in Western currency."

She said she made the request but they refused to pay her.

She said a Japanese musician who lives in the United States got the same treatment.

"I told them if that was their way of running a contest they could keep their prize money," she said.

Miss Hagen, who tied for seventh place in the competition, also complained about the Russians' musical standards. She said she turned down four and recording offers and would never go back there.

It was drawn here by a low pressure area which registered 28.85 inches on the barometer, the second lowest bar.

Storm Slams Island

Power, telephone and telegraph crews worked late into the night repairing line damage caused by yesterday's storm which lashed southern Vancouver Island with winds gusting to 76 miles an hour.

Weatherman William Mackle said that although the storm would be well into the Prairies by this morning there would be no major improvement in the weather picture here today.

He thought it would remain cool with cloudy skies and the occasional light shower and some sunny intervals. Wind is expected from the southwest at about 20 miles an hour.

TREES UPROOTED

A lot of trees were uprooted in the Victoria area and many overhead lines broken by the storm which dumped two inches of snow in the Nanaimo area and left a trail of snow as far west as Port Alberni.

The storm, which broke away from a large storm north of the Hawaiian Islands, was so intense here because its centre passed near Victoria, said the weatherman.

It was drawn here by a low pressure area which registered 28.85 inches on the barometer, the second lowest bar.

Prober Appointed In Forest Dispute

DR. NEIL PERRY

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson has appointed a one-man industrial inquiry commission in an attempt to settle the dispute between 28,000 Coast woodworkers and logging companies.

Dr. G. Neil Perry, dean of the faculty of commerce at University of B.C., was named to conduct the inquiry.

The 28,000 woodworkers on the Lower Mainland, Vancouver Island and the B.C. Coast, represented by the International Woodworkers of America, are seeking a 25-cent-an-hour wage boost on top of the present scale of $1.92 an hour.

NO BOARD

Appointment of an industrial inquiry commission was recommended by conciliation officer E. P. Fisher. He recommended that no conciliation board be appointed.

Dr. Perry will attempt to get the two parties to reach a settlement but if not will make a recommendation to Labor Minister Peterson.

The 135 employers are represented by Forest Industrial Relations Ltd.

Dr. Perry, a native of Victoria, is a former director of the B.C. bureau of economics and statistics.

Canadian Addict Cured Under British Scheme

LONDON (CP)—A Harley Street physician told a court yesterday how a young Canadian had been cured of drug addiction after seeking treatment under Britain's National Health Service.

Walter Thomas Carr, 21, son of a Vancouver commercial fisherman, appeared on remand having pleaded guilty to altering NHS prescriptions given for vitamins to obtain heroin and cocaine.

In Britain, limited supplies of drugs are prescribed for addicts who register for treatment.

The physician, Lady Anabella Frankau said Carr now is completely cured of addiction and after two weeks can return to Canada for further psychiatric attention. Carr was discharged conditionally for 12 months.

She said Carr was one of a steadily increasing number of Canadians who have come to Britain and registered as drug addicts in order to get treatment.

Judge Lashes 'Savage' Police

MONTREAL (UPI)—An angered judge slammed his fist on the desk as he delivered a stiff lecture yesterday to four suspended policemen charged with manslaughter.

Judge Paul Hurdau sent the four to voluntary statement May 4 after calling evidence given at the two-day preliminary hearing "a tale of savagery."

"No one has the right to strike another person unless in defence of his life," the judge lectured Sgt. Florent Landry, Cpl. Armand Gagnon and Constables Fernand Rose and Edouard Maroney.

Police officers should have other means of handling prisoners, the judge added.

Dr. Jean Marie Roussel, a medico-legal expert, said that an arrested man, Paul Boutin, died in police cells as a result of a number of blows and that no single wound would have caused his death.

VENDING BAN

JERSEY, Channel Islands (UPI)—All cigarette vending machines will be banned from this island beginning Sept. 1.

Six Children Pulled From Bay

By TED PULFORD

A frantic air-sea rescue search over stormy Cowichan Bay last night saved six children from death in two boating mishaps.

Four teenagers were stranded not far from Cherry Point when the motor on their 12-foot outboard was drenched by water.

The search for the four — triggered by Search and Rescue just before 7 p.m. — turned up two other youngsters hugging a log boom out in the bay. Their skiff had been battered by the gale.

CALLED SEARCHERS

A Victoria girl, 15-year-old Mary Peters of 730 Craigflower, and three young companions set out in the outboard from Cherry Point shortly after noon.

With her in the boat were Lloyd Mitchell, 13; Susan Ince, 16, and Suzanne Sadler, 16, all from North Vancouver.

When they failed to return home for supper, worried friends called air-sea rescue and the search was on.

FOUND RAILBOAT

It was while two aircraft, a tug boat and several unidentified small craft were scouring the bay for the teenagers that the two boys and their battered sailboat were found.

The pair, Alex Anderson, 9, and Sam Roy, 13, both of Pritchard Road, Cowichan Bay, were clinging soaked and chilled to a log boom about a mile out in the bay.

Minutes later, the RCMP patrol boat Sidney ran for smooth water and found the four teenagers, their powerful motorboat pinned against a rocky point.

HEAVY DRENCHING

In spite of a heavy drenching and several hours exposure to the raw gale which howled across Cowichan Bay for the better part of the day, none of the six suffered any ill effects.

War Is Near In Kashmir

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Pakistan said yesterday war with India over Kashmir appeared imminent and warned that if it erupted it will not be confined like the previous conflict. Ambassador Muhammad Zafrulla Khan appealed to the Security Council to persuade India to negotiate the Kashmir question.

Maritimes Investment NDP 'Order'

HALIFAX (CP)—Michael Oliver, national president of the New Democratic Party, said Friday Canadian insurance and trust companies would be required to invest a portion of their assets in a New Democratic Party capital development fund for the Atlantic provinces.

PUBLIC FINANCE

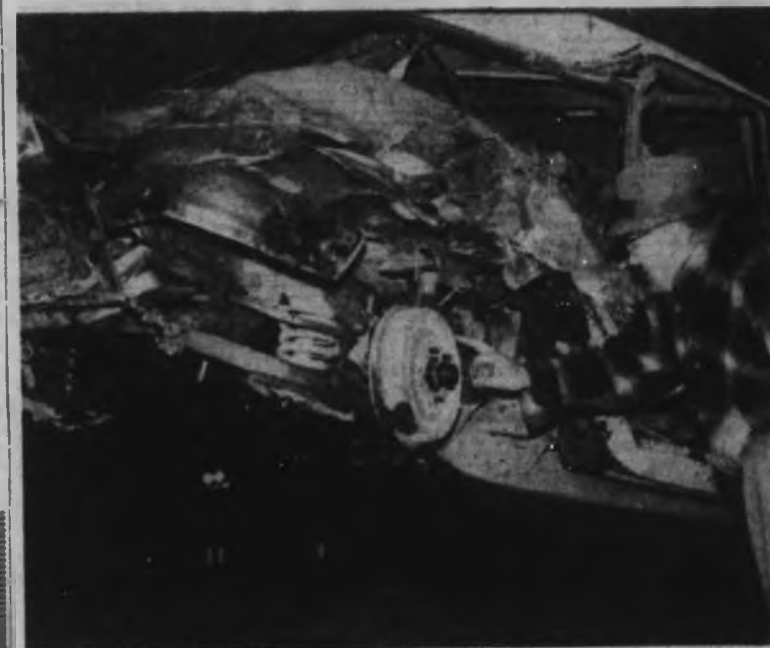

Mr. Oliver said at a press conference such a Crown corporation, whose funds would be set aside specifically for capital works projects in the region, would also be financed by investment from the general public and by federal government capital.

By drawing capital from these sources, Mr. Oliver explained, the NDP would "build up a capital fund without taxation."

He said Canada as a whole had a responsibility in the Atlantic area's economy.

'So It Will Be Somewhere Else'

Sonny Liston, at home in Philadelphia, shrugs off news that he's been denied licence to box in New York, thereby cancelling multi-million dollar heavyweight title fight with champion Floyd Patterson. "So it (the fight) will be somewhere else," he sighed. (AP Photofax.)

Now Everybody Wants Slice Of Patterson-Liston Pie

NEW YORK — Promoters were already wheeling and dealing for a chance to stage the Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson heavyweight title fight a few short hours after the New York State Athletic Commission's refusal to grant Liston a licence.

Julius November, Patterson's lawyer, mentioned Seattle, Philadelphia and Los Angeles as possibilities.

Pennsylvania and Illinois state commissions said they would licence Liston, but California refused, apparently vetoing any chance of a Los Angeles fight.

And, as might be expected, Archie Moore stepped into the picture through his manager, Doc Kearns, challenging Patterson to a title fight in San Diego in September.

"I've got a flock of millionaires ready to guarantee Patterson $1,000,000 to fight Moore in San Diego," Kearns said.

Patterson won the title by knocking out Moore in five rounds in 1956. Moore is almost unbeaten since then, and recently beat Alejandro Lora, the No. 3 contender.

While the dickering went on, the controversy raged as to whether or not Liston got a bum decision in New York.

MODEL CHAMPION

Pete Rademacher, badly beaten by Patterson, said Liston would prove himself a model champion if given a chance.

"At one time I had the feeling—about a year ago—that Liston wouldn't be the kind of man I would want a boy to look up to," Rademacher said. "But I feel now that if Liston can prove himself, he'll show the right kind of responsibility."

CONN DISAGREES

Former heavyweight contender Billy Conn also disagreed with the commission. "I think he deserves a chance to fight. I don't see where he did anything so awfully bad. I wouldn't deprive him of a chance for the title. There are worse guys around than Sonny."

But former world lightweight champion Willie Ritchie backed the commission, saying a contender for the championship "should be a decent citizen to begin with."

BAD EXAMPLE

Those against Liston cited his criminal record as a bad example for youth. But welfare leaders said he should have his chance.

Perhaps those disagreeing most loudly with the commission were hotel, restaurant and night club operators in New York. They claim to have lost $10,000,000 with the fight going elsewhere.

Comets Tie WHL Final

EDMONTON (CP) — Goalie Ed Johnston led Spokane Comets to a 7-4 victory over Edmonton Flyers before 5,427 fans Friday night to deadlock the Western Hockey League playoff finals at three games apiece.

The seventh and deciding game will be played here tonight.

Johnston, a former Flyer, blocked 42 shots, 16 of them in the final period as Edmonton dominated play almost throughout.

Johnston combined with two veterans to give Comets the win, their first in Edmonton since winning at their home.

Veteran Steve Wittek scored two goals for Spokane and veteran Bev Bell counted one and set up Spokane's third period goal that doused an Edmonton powerplay.

Ranger Ace Aids 'Shower'

Andy Hebenton of New York Rangers will be signing autographs today between 2 and 4 p.m. in the sporting goods department of Hudson's Bay.

Burnaby Boys Blasted

VANCOUVER — Officials of the Inter-City Lacrosse League, who brought Burnaby Norburns into the league this season, must be wondering today if the move wasn't a little hasty.

There were only 350 fans, one of the league's smallest crowds in years, on hand to watch Norburns open their schedule with a 13-4 trouncing at the hands of New Westminster.

It was the second straight win for New Westminster, which started off last season by winning 12 straight.

Cliff Sepka had three goals and four assists; Mike Gates, Ken Oddy and Ron Loftus scored twice, and Paul Parnell, Dave Torg, Gord Stodolph and Bill Wilkes got one goal each.

For Norburns, last year's Canadian junior finalists, Gary Stevens, Ken Anderson, Don Boyd and Bill Colclough each scored once.

VICTORIA SHAMROCKS go after their second victory tonight in Nanaimo. It will be the last game for two or three weeks for coach Arnie Ferguson, who leaves immediately for a business trip. Manager Hee McNeill will handle the club in his absence. . . . goalie Don Hamilton has been loaned to Vancouver. His employers have transferred him to Calgary. . . . Vancouver will use rookie Joe Comeau, and is still trying to re-sign Stan Joseph. . . . league commissioner Tommy Gordon rules on Joseph Monday, deciding whether he must go back to Vancouver or play for Norburns.

Rugby Cup Playoff Won't Be Finished

Second half of the McKinnon Cup rugby series has been scrapped, and the cup awarded to Vancouver Reps on the basis of their 13-3 victory over Victoria Crimson Tide here Feb. 10.

Announcement was made at last night's annual general meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union. Vancouver officials had indicated shortly after the first game of the total-point series that the second game could not be worked in, due to the three-game visit of the New Zealand universities team. However, local officials had insisted that the game would be played eventually.

In other news at the meeting, reports said that the number of teams in the Victoria Rugby Union had doubled in the past year, and that Cowichan Rugby Club would enter next season.

Cowichan will draw its players from Brentwood and Shalman Lake schools as well as high schools in the Duncan-Cowichan area.

President Peter Clark, vice-president Harry Turner, junior rugby co-ordinator, and secretary Morris Lancaster were all returned for another term.

New officers named were: Hugh Farquhar, vice-president; Ray Calton, treasurer; Tilman Briggs, high school co-ordinator; Jack Patrick, publicity; and Ian Black, chairman of referees.

Donor Opens Little League

Merv Wooliams, donor of the land on which the Triangle Little League baseball diamond is situated, will throw out the first ball to open the Triangle League season Sunday afternoon at 1.

IGA plays Exlers in the first game and POs and Buffaloes play the second at 3. Incidentally, the league needs managers and coaches for its minor teams.

Liston's Criminal Record Cited In Boxing Licence Refusal

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission denied a licence to Sonny Liston Friday because of the persons around him and his own police record.

The action eliminated New York City as the site for Liston's title fight with champion Floyd Patterson, and may have cost him the fight entirely.

Julius November, Patterson's attorney, said the commission would "have to re-evaluate the situation" in the light of the ruling, and said that "from a legal viewpoint the contract for the fight is no longer valid."

November said the contract, signed March 16 by Liston, Patterson and Championship Sports Inc., as promoters, could be revived by all three parties, if they all want to.

AWARE OF RECORD

He said Patterson was well aware of Liston's record when he signed for the fight, but that the commission had uncovered any new information about Liston that would make Patterson change his mind.

November said Patterson would study the commission findings and make a decision. "But at the present point there isn't any contract," he said.

NO SECRET

Patterson hesitated for nearly a year before he decided to give Liston a shot at the crown. He made no secret of the fact that Liston's record was the reason.

The three-man commission unanimously turned down Liston's application.

Al Dolan, vice-president of Championship Sports, said he was "very surprised" and said he expected to make an announcement shortly on a new site.

The match was expected to draw at least $1,000,000 at the gate at Yankee Stadium or the Polo Grounds in September, plus at least twice that for radio, movies and closed circuit television rights.

The commission issued a lengthy written explanation of its decision. The statement said:

"We do not take the position that Liston's police record alone bars him from a licence in this state."

It added: "The history of Liston's past associations provide a pattern of suspicion. . . . We cannot ignore the possibility that these long-time associations continue to this day. The wrong people do not disengage easily."

The commission mentioned Liston's two convictions, for robbery and larceny and assault to kill, and numerous arrests.

"There would be more than a calculated risk in the issuance of a licence on this application."

Protest Works; Soccer Replay

A successful protest over a semi-final game has led to an unexpected preliminary in the B.C. minor soccer Tournament of Champions, scheduled today and tomorrow at Royal Athletic Park.

Burdett Beavers of North Vancouver and Powell River Legion will replay their Division VI semi-final this morning at 9:45 at Central Park, with the winner going on to tomorrow's final.

Powell River won the semi-final, 1-0, but Burdett protested because a referee disallowed a goal scored by Burdett on an incorrect rule interpretation.

Otherwise, things go as scheduled, with four games today and three tomorrow at Royal Athletic Park, each deciding a division championship. First game starts at 11:30 a.m.

Ejected players and manager came in wholesale lots Friday night as Detroit Tigers belted Los Angeles Angels 13-4 in a wild game in which Angels pitcher Joe Nuxhall was fined $50 for the most serious offense.

The Tigers were cruising behind a 10-4 lead when they came to bat in the sixth.

Stirling Moss Lapses Again

LONDON (CP) — Racing driver Stirling Moss, injured when his V-8 Lotus spun off the Goodwood auto circuit on Easter Monday, lapsed into unconsciousness again Friday night after briefly opening his eyes and trying to talk to his doctors.

The hospital in suburban Wimbledon said he was semi-conscious, maintaining his improvement and trying to talk when aroused. He spent 90 minutes in the x-ray room Friday.

Moss was travelling at more than 100 miles an hour when his car hurtled straight ahead at a bend Monday.

He suffered head injuries described as "moderately severe" as well as fractures of the left leg, shoulder and one rib. However an orthopedic specialist who examined him Thursday said the bone injuries were not serious.

Moss had just set a lap record of 1:05.37 miles an hour when the accident occurred. Observers said a jammed throttle apparently was the cause.

More Prizes Than Ever for King Fishermen

The 1962 King Fisherman contest is on.

The eighth edition of the popular Colonist contest starts today and continues for five months, until Oct. 14.

This year there is a bigger than ever list of prizes — mostly for hidden weights — topped by an eight-day vacation in Japan for two, via Canadian Pacific Airlines.

A weekend holiday with a Vancouver Island Helicopters whirlybird at your back and call, a Thorne's aluminum car-top boat and an Elizabeth Arden fitted cosmetic case are other top prizes.

There will be a big array of monthly hidden-weight prizes, including weekend holiday trips, fishing trips and a wide selection of outdoors equipment.

For the biggest fish there will be King Fisherman Prince Crests each month for the 25 heaviest coho, tye and spring salmon and the 15 heaviest river trout, lake trout and small-mouthed bass.

Special centennial bars, marking the centennial celebrations of both Victoria and Comox, will be awarded for the biggest fish in each of the six categories each month.

Heaviest tye salmon caught by a Colonist subscriber is the contest will win a moving picture camera from Colwood Pharmacy.

Heaviest spring salmon will win a Youngstown food waste disposer from W. R. Menzies; heaviest coho salmon will win a Viking outboard motor from T. Eaton Co.; heaviest lake trout will win a two-man inflatable rubber boat from Jeune Bros.; heaviest river trout will win a family camping tent from Jeune Bros.; heaviest bass will win the $100 Imperial Esso prize.

Heaviest fish in each of the six categories win handsome King Fisherman trophies, specially designed for the contest.

First person to win all six Prince Crests will win the Compliment Angler Trophy, which is truly symbolic of the King Fisherman of Vancouver Island.

Everyone who fishes on Vancouver Island may get in on the fun, whether or not they subscribe to the Colonist, but they have to be Colonist subscribers to win the big merchandise prizes.

Nearly 200 weigh-in stations in all parts of Vancouver Island are prepared to weigh entries in the King Fisherman contest, and anglers will have no trouble locating one close to their fishing grounds.

Salmon must weigh five pounds or more and trout and bass must weigh one pound or more. Each fish entered means another chance on hidden-weight prizes.

Tourist Trade Hurt Late Ferry Cut Blow to Victoria

Port Alberni Chooses Six Misses

PORT ALBERNI — Six local organizations are sponsoring candidates in the Miss Port Alberni contest, with the winner to represent the city at the 1962 PNE.

Finals of the contest, sponsored by Port Alberni and district Chamber of Commerce, will be held during the Jerry Gosley Seattle Show in ADESS auditorium May 8.

Contestants and their sponsors are: Ellen Ashew, 12, Rotary Club; Marion Palmer, 18, Legion Branch 55; Sally Spittler, 19, Gyro Club; Lorraine Bellin Lee, 17, Alberni District Teachers' Association; Rosalind Chapman, 17, Klummen Club; and Margaret Andrews, 18, Bonfort Hotel.

Friendship Bazaar Set Today

DUNCAN — An Indian-style Cowichan friendship bazaar, organized by nine local women's groups, will be opened at 10 a.m. today in the Eagles' hall by Cowichan Chief Louise Underwood.

Bazaar committee chairman Mrs. W. H. Hamar says bazaar participants will be dressed in Indian costumes and Indian relics will be displayed.

Sponsors are the Women of the Moose, Jayceettes, Pythian Sisters, Kinettes, Eagles auxiliary, Bonnet Women's Institute, King's Daughters' Hostess junior auxiliary, the Junior baseball auxiliary and St. Catherine's Mothers' Club.

Water Appeal Circulated In Park Area

Residents of the John Dean Park area of North Saanich are circulating a petition asking Sidney to extend its water district to include that area which is now without a domestic water supply.

About 70 persons signed the petition during a special meeting last night.

A spokesman for the group said the petition will be sent to Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes if about 70 per cent of the 200 to 250 persons in the area who now get their water from wells give their support.

"We will drop the issue if we only get 50 per cent," he said.

Cancellation of the 11 p.m. summer-schedule sailing of B.C. government ferries from Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen dismayed city boosters yesterday.

The late run, which ferry officials said was sparsely patronized last year, was dropped because of the problem of getting the two ships on the run back to their home ports, and because of an hourly service starting Tuesday.

But A. E. Walters, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said the decision was unfortunate, in view of the tremendous tourist traffic between the Island and the mainland this summer.

He said he felt last year's figures should not be used to assess the expected volume of

Unusual Conditions

But, he said, this could be rearranged to provide a late sailing.

Mr. Walters said the unusual conditions throughout the area, such as Victoria's centennial, the Seattle world's fair and Vancouver's summer theatre schedule, would prove the late sailing economical "at least for this year—it could be dropped next year if it slumps again."

An official of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau agreed cancellation of the late run was "unfortunate."

"The midnight sailing to Nanaimo by Black Ball was always very popular," he said. Meanwhile, ferry officials pressed the newly-completed

Summertime Peak

They said Easter weekend passenger volume reached a "summertime peak" with the weekend extending well into the week.

Monday night two extra sailings had to be scheduled to handle the traffic.

Sailing schedules will be "eccentric" until the hourly summer schedule starts Tuesday, the spokesmen said.

With the City of Vancouver reinforcing the Mv. Tsawwassen and City of Victoria, sailings will be boosted by four a day, some on an hourly schedule.

Commenting on the cancellation of the 11 p.m. sailing, one spokesman said:

"We were surprised to find that there were times when more people were using the 11 p.m. run. Besides posing a problem of getting the ships back to their home ports, it has proven uneconomical."

He said that, despite pressures to schedule a late run, the business "never materialized."

He pointed out that, in certain conditions, the service would put on late extra runs to handle overflow crowds.

"We put on an 11 p.m. and a 1 a.m. run the other night, but we don't like to advertise that, since it tends to make people careless of schedules."

Jobless Total Drops To New District Low

Greater Victoria's job picture has brightened, with the number of registered job seekers more than 1,800 below the April, 1961, figure, a National Employment Service spokesman reported yesterday.

Job opportunities for men have reduced the number seek-passengers on the 11 p.m. run this year because of the large number of events being staged in Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle.

This would not only increase the volume of tourist traffic, but also spur commuter travel by local residents to take in Vancouver shows and Vancouverites making one-day visits here for centennial events.

He said he understood the scheduling problem facing ferry officials in arranging the runs to make sure ships finish the day in their home ports.

Courtenay Convention

'Daughters' Urge Distinctive Flag

COURTENAY — A Vancouver resolution urging a distinctive national flag for Canada was approved by Canadian Daughters here at their provincial convention.

But another resolution opposing any national flag bearing the Union Jack was rejected.

WEIR VERSION

The league also urged that the Weir version of O Canada be adopted officially as the national anthem.

In other resolutions, the league asked for pensions for men at 65 without means tests and for self-supporting women at 60 with means tests. Delegates demanded an end to the practice of increasing pensioners' rents every time the old-age pension goes up.

METRIC SYSTEM

Removal of sales tax from books and NHA loans for housing renovation were asked along with establishment of a metric system for weights and measures.

Rejected was a resolution calling for entry into Canada of stateless persons who fulfill all but passport requirements and changes in immigration laws to permit more Commonwealth immigrants without regard to color, and their training for Canadian industry.

NEW OFFICERS

New officers installed by national president Mrs. R. E. Woodman and marshal Mrs. E. R. Lefley of Courtenay were Mrs. B. P. McCloskey of Vancouver, president; Mrs. L. H. Guina of Vancouver, past junior president; Mrs. J. S. Hull of Kamloops and Mrs. E. Granville of Vancouver, vice presidents; Mrs. J. A. Walker of Vancouver, secretary; Mrs. M. ## Union Denies Force

Officials of the B.C. Electric said yesterday: "We certainly haven't tried to railroad these people. The only thing we did was apply for certification."

He said the union wanted "solidarity" among the employees and felt it was necessary to apply for certification before the employees become a single working unit.

"We attended a number of meetings with their executive and their members but we didn't get to first base with them."

WISH OF MOST

The two white-collar groups were brought together when the B.C. Electric and the B.C. Power Commission were merged March 30.

James Twells, president of the association, said Thursday it was the wish of the majority of his group not to be unionized.

National delegates are Mrs. Lefley, Mrs. Hull and Mrs. Ina Crawford of Vancouver.

W. Ralph Freethy of Victoria, an OEGC board member representing Vancouver Island, early halted.

HALTED TEMPORARILY

"We won't stand for a differential in wages (which now exists under separate contracts)," said Mr. Freethy.

Volunteer union members canvassed the 30 to 40 association members to give them information kits and to answer questions but "there was no force," said the union official. The canvass has been temporarily halted.

OVER 50 PER CENT

"We represent over 50 per cent of the office employees of the authority as well as the office and technical employees of the Peace River Power project and International Power and Engineering Consultants Ltd. of Vancouver."

"Our only interest is to protect their welfare."

SEEN IN PARKING: Woman waiting for a bus opposite the Colonist office yesterday smiled sympathetically as two small boys struggled against the wind.

One of the lads was doubly handicapped. He was on crutches.

The youngsters stopped to look at some lawn mowers then the one on crutches suddenly straightened up and handed them to his chum — who went bobbling off down the street.

William Trutch, first lieutenant-governor of B.C., was the wisest Englishman of them all because he appointed as first premier an Irishman, John Fisher MacNeill.

Mr. Nesbitt, who hasn't a drop of English blood in him, is a grandson of Samuel Nesbitt, an Irishman who arrived here in the gold miners' ship Commodore in the hectic summer of 1858 and built a mansion he called "Erin Hall" but which the gentry from England called "Cracker Castle" because it was built from the proceeds of Mr. Nesbitt's cracker bakery!

Government travel bureau people plead not guilty for the absence of suitable B.C. literature at the Canada exhibit at Seattle's world fair.

A further 1,000 copies were hurriedly dispatched this week — before our item appeared.

Ridge-Runners Concern For Cowichan Hunters

DUNCAN—Cowichan Fish Powell River firm's Shawnigan and Game Association officials division, which is under the expressed concern yesterday association's custody during that new ridge-runner vehicles hunting season. The small, light motor vehicles in the MacMillan-hikes already are outlawed in several of the United States, said association spokesman, Arnie Williams, so the group will step up its organized patrols.

Non-members of the associations are "tolerated" during hunting season but may not use cars and have to be insured.

Mr. Williams said every association member is insured for $100,000 while hunting and "it is crazy for a man to go hunting without insurance."

STRICT INSTRUCTIONS

Members have strict instructions to stay away from machinery and tools left in the bush and, while there was little trouble from the 1,000 hunters in the Shawnigan division last year, ridge runners could mean a big problem this time. Mr. Williams said the company is showing more consideration for hunters yearly and "we don't want to spoil this good relationship."

'EXPLOSION'--AND FOUR DIED

Running gauntlet of furious Teamsters, truck is spattered by rocks and bombs. —CP Photo.

Howling Strikers Ambush Trucks With Bombs, Bats

MONTREAL (CP)—A four-lane boulevard turned into a furious battleground Friday as strikers threw fire bombs and everything else they could get their hands on to prevent two transporters from leaving a trucking depot.

Police, alerted with tear gas bombs and fired more than 20 warning shots into the air as they extricated the frantic crews from the trucks, one of them a fire.

Two of 200 striking Teamsters Union (Ind.) members were injured, one of them when he tried to jump on the running board of one of the trucks.

The fighting broke out on north-bound Cote de Liesse Road when the two trucks tried to leave the strike-bound Smith Transport Company depot.

BURN BOMBS

The strikers surged across the boulevard the instant the first truck came through the depot gate. They hurled the bombs, burning torches, stones, bricks, glass, pieces of wood and anything else they could get their hands on in a furious effort to stop the first truck and another one that emerged right behind it.

The first truck burst into flames and slid across the road. The second came to a dead stop right behind it.

WARNING SHOTS

Police, trying to extricate the two frantic drivers and their helpers, pumped tear gas shells into the howling, roaring mob and fired more than 20 warning shots into the air.

Later, Rod Hayes, president of Local 186 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Ind.), sent a telegram to Quebec Attorney-General Georges Lapalme protesting the role played by Quebec Provincial Police during the outbreak.

'TRING GUNS'

He charged the QPP had been used as "strikebreakers" and protested their "using guns to shoot at strikers."

The Smith attempt followed a successful bid by two trucks from the adjacent Kingsway depot earlier in the day to get out of the area—blockaded by the Teamsters for the last three days—and reach warehouses on the waterfront.

The first Smith truck rumbled out behind two police cars shortly after 2 p.m. and headed west into the hall of bombs, rocks and debris. In a split second, it was aflame.

Three police cars immediately swerved into position between the burning truck and the mob. More policemen rushed to and charged into the strikers. Police said no arrests were made.

... shortchanged

Rouble Pinchers! Snorts Violinist

TORONTO (CP)—Violinist Betty Jean Hagen of Toronto, back from the Tchaikovsky competitions in Moscow, says she and other Western musicians were short-changed in their prize money.

Mim Hagen said that when she left Moscow officials refused to give her a portion of her prize money.

"We were told in advance that we could not take roubles out of the country," she said, "and the prize money was in roubles. But if we wished we could ask that a quarter of the prize money be paid in Western currency."

She said she made the request but they refused to pay her.

She said a Japanese musician who lives in the United States got the same treatment.

"I told them if that was their way of running a contest they could keep their prize money."

Miss Hagen, who tied for seventh place in the competition, also complained about the Russians' musical standards. She said she turned down four and recording offers and would never go back there.

Storm Slams Island

Power, telephone and telegraph crews worked late into the night repairing line damage caused by yesterday's storm which lashed southern Vancouver Island with winds gusting to 76 miles an hour.

Weatherman William Mackie said that although the storm would be well into the Prairies by this morning there would be no major improvement in the weather picture here today.

He thought it would remain cool with cloudy skies and the occasional light shower and some sunny intervals. Wind is expected from the southwest at about 20 miles an hour.

TREES UPROOTED

A lot of trees were uprooted in the Victoria area and many overhead lines broken by the storm which dumped two inches of snow in the Nanaimo area and left a trail of snow as far west as Port Alberni.

The storm, which broke away from a large storm north of the Hawaiian Islands, was so intense here because its centre passed near Victoria, said the weatherman.

It was drawn here by a low pressure area which registered 28.95 inches on the barometer, the second lowest bar.

Car and Logging Truck Collide Near Mill Bay

A Duncan businessman and his wife were among four persons killed in a collision between their car and a logging truck on the Island Highway four miles north of Mill Bay late yesterday.

Dead are: Vernon James Harford, 56, and his wife Alyce, in her 50s, of Vista Road, Duncan; and two other persons riding in the death car whom police were unable to identify at press time early today.

Six Children Pulled From Bay

By TED PULFORD

A frantic air-sea rescue search over stormy Cowichan Bay last night saved six children from death in two boating mishaps.

Four teenagers were stranded not far from Cherry Point when the motor on their 12-foot outboard was drenched by water.

The search for the four—triggered by Search and Rescue just before 9 p.m.—turned up two other youngsters hanging a log boom out in the bay. Their skiff had been battered by the gale.

CALLED NEARBERS

A Victoria girl, 15-year-old Mary Peters of 730 Craigflower, and three young companions set out in the outboard from Cherry Point shortly after noon.

When they failed to return home for supper, worried friends called air-sea rescue and the search was on.

FOUND HULLBOAT

It was while two aircraft, a tug boat and several unidentified small craft were scouring the bay for the teenagers that the two boys and their battered sailboat were found.

The pair, Alex Anderson, 9, and Sam Roys, 13, both of Pritchard Road, Cowichan Bay, were clinging soaked and chilled to a log boom about a mile out in the bay.

HEAVY DRENCHING

Minutes later, the RCMP patrol boat Sidney ran for smooth water and found the four teenagers, their powerless motorboat pinned against a rocky point.

In spite of a heavy drenching and several hours exposure to the raw gale which howled across Cowichan Bay for the better part of the day, none of the six suffered any ill effects.

War Is Near In Kashmir

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Pakistan said yesterday war with India over Kashmir appeared imminent and warned that if it erupts it will not be confined like the previous conflict. Ambassador Muhammad Zafrulla Khan appealed to the Security Council to persuade India to negotiate the Kashmir question.

Maritimes Investment NDP 'Order'

HALIFAX (CP)—Michael Oliver, national president of the New Democratic Party, said Friday Canadian insurance and trust companies would be required to invest a portion of their assets in a New Democratic Party capital development fund for the Atlantic provinces.

PUBLIC FINANCE

Mr. Oliver said at a press conference such a Crown corporation, whose funds would be set aside specifically for capital works projects in the region, would also be financed by investment from the general public and by federal government capital.

By drawing capital from these sources, Mr. Oliver explained, the NDP would "build up a capital fund without taxation."

He said Canada as a whole had a responsibility in the Atlantic area's economy.

HEAD-ON

The careening truck then smashed head-on into the north-bound Harford car. Mrs. Almond's car, which received only minor damage, was also travelling north. Residents of homes nearby said the impact of the crash was like an explosion.

The accident happened at 5:15 p.m. on a straight stretch of highway.

IN SHOCK

There were apparently no witnesses to the accident except Mrs. Almond. Police said she was in a state of shock and unable to answer questions immediately. She later was reported to be at the home of her parents in South Wellington.

Don Adamson of Courtenay arrived on the scene only seconds after the crash. He ran to the car and found all four occupants were dead.

USED SHOVEL

David Andriak, who lives 100 yards from the crash scene near Hutchinson Road, said a dump car had stopped by the time he reached the death car. A nurse tried to give first aid to the victims. Would-be rescuers used a shovel to remove earth around the door of the tilted car.

They smashed the windshield of the truck to remove the injured driver. He was employed at the B.C. Forest Products Cayuse Camp on Cowichan Lake and was returning to his Victoria home for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Harford, residents of Duncan since 1949,

Canadian Addict Cured Under British Scheme

LONDON (CP)—A Harley Street physician told a court yesterday how a young Canadian had been cured of drug addiction after seeking treatment under Britain's National Health Service.

Walter Thomas Carr, 21, son of a Vancouver commercial fisherman, appeared on remand having pleaded guilty to altering NHS prescriptions given for vitamins to obtain heroin and cocaine.

In Britain, limited supplies of drugs are prescribed for addicts who register for treatment.

The physician, Lady Anabella Frankau, said Carr now is completely cured of addiction and after two weeks can return to Canada for further psychiatric attention. Carr was discharged conditionally for 12 months.

She said Carr was one of a steadily increasing number of Canadians who have come to Britain and registered as drug addicts in order to get treatment.

Judge Lashes 'Savage' Police

MONTREAL (UPI)—An angered judge slammed his fist on the desk as he delivered a stiff lecture yesterday to four suspended policemen charged with manslaughter.

Judge Paul Hurdieu sent the four to voluntary statements May 4 after calling evidence given at the two-day preliminary hearing "a tale of savagery."

"No one has the right to strike another person unless in defence of his life," the judge lectured Sgt. Florent Landry, Cpl. Armand Gagnon and Constables Fernand Rose and Edouard Maroney.

Police officers should have other means of handling prisoners, the judge added. Dr. Jean Marie Roussel, a medico-legal expert, said that
